As Unrest Continues

Peace Overture Made By One Of Algerian Groups

ALGIERS (AP)—Premier Youssef ben Khedda made peace overtures today to his rebellious deputy, Ahmed ben Bella, whose army supporters have taken over the Moslem section of Oran and now control most of western Algeria.

Ben Khedda sent two ministers to the Moroccan capital of Rabat to seek reconciliation with the dissident deputy premier who has been demanding looser ties with France and close links to the Communist world.

Ben Bella, after conferring with U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser in Cairo, left Sunday night presumably for Rabat, where he was awaited by Ben Khedda's envoys — Information Minister Mohammed Yazid and Minister of State Rabah Bitat.

About 1,500 heavily armed Algerian troops flocked across the Moroccan border into Oran over the weekend and received rousing cheers as they hailed Ben Bella as the hero of Algeria's independence.

Ben Bella slogans appeared on walls throughout the Moslem quarter of Algeria's second largest city. Boy Scouts and children's groups paraded with huge portraits of the deputy premier.

No Ben Bella slogans appeared in Oran's European quarter where 97 persons died in street fighting last Thursday. French police patrolled the streets of the sector by agreement with Moslem authorities.

Hundreds of Europeans from Oran lined up Sunday in a feverish effort to get plane seats for France.

French informants said about 120 Europeans were missing in city, believed held in police stations as suspected terrorists of the defunct Secret Army Organization.

Foreign Minister Saad Dahlab said in a radio broadcast Sunday night differences among Algerian leaders are "not a crisis—only a misunderstanding."

Council Votes Against Ballot Test For Plan

Wellsville Building Idea Still 'Alive,' Residents Assert

A proposal to allow Wellsville residents to vote on a question of erecting a combination City Hall-Post Office was turned down by a 2-3 vote at a special meeting of Council Saturday night.

But the possibility of a vote remained alive as Mrs. Helen Welch, a member of the audience, said petitions would be circulated to force a vote on the issue.

Following a lengthy discussion, Councilman Dwight MacLean's motion to put the proposal on the Nov. 6 ballot was rejected. MacLean was joined by Councilman Robert Taggart.

Voting against the proposition were Councilwoman Mrs. Kay Drago and Councilmen Frank DeLonzo and William Stroble. Councilman Donald Miller abstained.

Atty. Delmar T. O'Hara served as chief spokesman for a civic group backing the proposal. It included the heads of various civic organizations and representatives of three financial institutions.

George Hough of Maple Ave. and Dominic Pucci, 712 Diamond St., spoke more against the combination building than the question of whether or not the proposition should be placed on the ballot.

Hough indicated he couldn't understand why there was an attempt to upset a previous plan to locate the Post Office at 12th St.

Councilmen who voted against placing it on the ballot indicated the costs of the proposed structure were not clear.

Among others supporting the proposal were Mrs. Mary Rahter, Council president, who spoke at length several times; Mrs. Betty Jackson, a representative of the Women's Civic Club; James Pilmer, and Jack Lanam. Mrs. Welch also spoke before the motion came up for a vote.

Mrs. Jackson pointed out to Council her group had unanimously voted in favor of placing the issue on the ballot.

Pilmer told Council the city would suffer by not accepting the proposition because of the loss of rental income. Lanam is a member of the Advisory Board named by Council at its July 2 meeting when the project, backed by Mayor William Daugherty, was revived by MacLean after being tabled at an earlier session.

Kremlin Hits Kennedy For U.S.-Europe Tie

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin assailed today President Kennedy's proposal for U.S.-European interdependence as calling for a "new holy alliance" against communism and preparing for a new war.

The first Soviet answer to Kennedy's July 4 speech at Philadelphia came in a Pravda editorial by "Observer," the pen name used for high-level party policy statements.

Traffic mishaps, lightning and drownings accounted for at least 20 accidental deaths throughout Ohio during the past weekend.

Fourteen of the over-all toll died in highway accidents, three drowned and lightning caused three deaths.

All of the lightning deaths occurred Sunday.

The traffic toll, below last week's 18 deaths, included two double-fatality accidents.

The drownings included two 8-year-olds and a 19-year-old who had gone swimming Saturday night in a pond near Lima.

The Associated Press tabulated the week-end deaths from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

The fatalities:

Friday Night

Jimmy D. Todd, 22, Dayton, and Douglass Gene Miller, 18, Sidney, when their compact car crossed the median on U.S. 25 north of Dayton, collided nearly headon with another car and a third auto hit the wreckage.

David Walter Johnson, 18, Hamilton, when his sports car went out of control on a road west of Hamilton.

Saturday

Paul Emerson Brown, 32, Columbia Center (Licking County), when his car collided with another on Ohio 16 just west of Pataskala.

Mrs. Sybil Wenzlow, 47, Rt. 2, Gleason, Wis., in a headon collision of her auto and a tractor-trailer on U.S. 30-S about 12 miles west of Kenton.

Roscoe Goheen, 61, Wellston, and his son Robert, 29, Piqua, when their car collided headon with another in a heavy fog on Ohio 66 west of Sidney.

Munhall Man, 47, Dies In Route 168 Crash

A Munhall, Pa., man was killed and his wife was injured in a traffic accident Saturday at 6 p. m. on Route 168, a mile north of Frankfort Springs in Beaver County.

State Police said Joseph A. Borgan, 47, of Munhall died of injuries at Washington (Pa.) Hospital. His widow, Mrs. Margaret Brogan, is in "fair" condition today at Mercy Hospital at Pittsburgh with a head injury and fractured ribs.

Police said the Borgan auto upset after it cut back in too sharply after passing, hitting a car driven by John Mrosko, 38, of Detroit.

Mao Denies Any Split By Red Powers

Statement Issued Before Opening Of Kremlin Meeting

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union opened a six-day "Congress for General Disarmament and Peace" in the Kremlin today with delegates treated to a pre-congress show of Soviet-Red Chinese unity.

Premier Khrushchev was to appear before several thousand delegates from 101 countries — 150 from the United States—to "dispel much of the fog generated by opponents of disarmament" in the words of a Pravda advance notice.

The Communist party newspaper set the theme for congress attacks on "American imperialism" and professions of solidarity betwen Communist China and the Soviet Union.

Sunday's Pravda carried a statement of Mao Tung, chief of the Red China delegation to the congress, hailing Khrushchev's July 2 pledge of Soviet support for the Chinese Communists if an attack from Formosa developed.

Talk of a split between the two countries, Mao Tung said, was invented by the Western press.

"It is well known to what lengths the reactionary press in the West has gone to invent alleged differences between China and the Soviet Union," Tung said.

"Comrade Khrushchev's statement completely demolishes the provocative rumors spread in the West. It shows again that the friendship between our great peoples, among all the countries of the socialist camp, is inviolable."

Tung said that despite Taiwan's "occupation" by U.S. military forces, Red China is for peaceful solution of disputes, adding, without elaboration, "We still offer the way of negotiations to the American government."

Tung is not listed as holding any government post but he has been active in government-sponsored peace council projects.

His statement emphasized Soviet-Chinese cooperation. It omitted the familiar formula employed up to two or three years ago in which the Soviet Union was hailed as the leader of the socialist camp.

Heat's Eased By Light Rain

Storm At Lake Erie Helps Cut Mercury

Temperatures that climbed into the low 90's, accompanied by high humidity, were eased for the East Liverpool area early Sunday night by a light rain, followed by a cool front that moved in after a storm on the lake front west of Cleveland.

Ohio's temperatures may be as much as 15 degrees lower today, thanks to the cool air that moved into the state following the lake thunder storm, the weatherman said.

The sweltering weather yesterday drove thousands to the relief offered by shady parks and district swimming pools. The hot spell did not break until after a mild shower early last night, which produced only a fraction of an inch of rain in its brief duration.

The storm in northern and central Ohio carried both hail and rain, accompanied by winds that gusted up to 60 miles an hour.

The official forecast said it will be cooler and less humid today with a high of 72 to 78.

It will be fair and cool tonight with a low of 50-57. Tuesday will be sunny with little temperature change.

Child Drowns In Swimming At Area Lake

Canton Youngster's Body Discovered By Palestine Youth

An 8-year-old Canton boy lost his life while swimming at Guilford Lake Sunday, the first swimming fatality at the state lake since 1955.

The body of Daniel Lee Reehl was recovered from four feet of water just south of Kyper's Landing about 12:50 p. m. yesterday, near where he apparently had been swimming earlier.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Reehl of Canton, he had been with his parents at their nearby cabin. His father and others were constructing a dock near the site yesterday. They apparently did not know he was missing.

The body was discovered by Mike McCarthy of East Palestine, who treaded on the boy's body while swimming about 300 feet south of the state camping area and near the landing.

Ronald Seidel of East Palestine carried the boy into shore and summoned park authorities. The boy was taken by ambulance to Salem City Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

The lake's last swimming death was recorded July 2, 1955. A Circleville man drowned last year when he apparently fell out of a boat.

Goulart Offers Rocha As Brazilian Premier

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP)—President Joao Goulart called on Brazil's Chamber of Deputies today to approve Francisco Brochado da Rocha as prime minister and end the 13-day-old political crisis which caused rioting that killed 11 persons.

Some deputies were said to oppose Rocha, a provincial official in Rio Grande do Sul State where he is a close associate of left-leaning Gov. Leonel Brizola.

It marked Goulart's third attempt to form a new government since Prime Minister Tancredo Neves and his Cabinet resigned June 26 to be eligible under the constitution to run in the October congressional elections.

The crisis has been marked by food riots and a general strike by labor unions demanding a prime minister favorable to their cause.

16 Flee Airliner

Hostess Heroine As Plane Burns

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—A Continental Airline turbo-prop Viscount caught fire and crashed three minutes after taking off from Amarillo air terminal Sunday.

The 13 passengers and 3 crew members escaped minutes before several explosions rocked the wreckage. Several passengers suffered cuts and bruises in the wheels-up landing. They were released after treatment.

Capt. Lawrence Lauratis, El Paso, Tex., the pilot, said he and First Officer E. C. Gorman, also of El Paso, knew the plane was in trouble within a minute after they took off on a flight to Lubbock, Tex.

Neither Lauratis nor Gorman had time to make an announcement over the public address system but hostess Linda Howard, sensing the danger, walked calmly up and down the aisle reassuring the passengers.

Miss Howard, who has been a hostess 14 months, said, "I just asked God to help get the plane down as safely as possible.

"I don't know if I was really afraid or not. There was no time for that."

She said she reached the rear of the plane seconds before the crash, "fell into an empty seat and did not have time to put the seat belt on."

Because the fire was in the right wing, Miss Howard decided to get the passengers out an emergency door in the rear. Harold V. Hunter, a passenger from Gardena, Calif., helped her open the door.

The plane traveled 2½ miles from the end of the runway before the pilot set it down in a recently harvested wheat field.

Gene Cagle of Amarillo, who was rabbit hunting, said the plane flew over him.

"I saw fire on that one (right) engine," Cagle said. "It was smoking and burning. I wondered if they were supposed to do that. Then the fire began getting bigger and the plane nosed down."

The plane, which can carry 60 passengers and cost about $1 million, was destroyed.

Party Confidence Shown In Republicans' Feuding

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are feuding and fighting among themselves with all the vigor of a party confident it will have some political cake to slice after the November balloting.

Traditionally, the minority tends to patch up its differences and present a united front. But with economic uneasiness in the country spurring their election hopes, Republicans have brought their brawling out for public display.

At the moment, Gov. Wesley Powell of New Hampshire, former chairman of the Governors Conference, is on the attack against Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, a potential bidder for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

In center stage party members are battling over the usefulness and objectives of the All Republican Conference and the National Republican Citizens Committee.

The cross-fire around these two party groups has been so hot that Chariaman William E. Miller was constrained to write all GOP national committee members Sunday defending them. Miller has said Republicans cannot afford the luxury of disunity.

Miller said the All Republican Conference, which had its inaugural session at former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's Gettysburg, Pa., farm June 30 had been very well received.

As for the citizens group, headed by Eisenhower as honorary chairman, Miller said there is a firm agreement that it will cooperate closely with established party agencies and will avoid wasteful duplication and overlap.

Warhead's Borne Aloft By Big Thor

Explosion Reported As Most Powerful Of Current Testing

HONOLULU (AP) — With a flash that lit the Hawaiian Islands like a giant flashbulb, a powerful nuclear device exploded high above Johnston Island, 750 miles southwest of here Sunday night.

It marked success by the United States on its third try to explode a nuclear warhead carried aloft by a giant Thor missile.

The blast—most powerful of the current test series—was carried aloft to an altitude of about 200 miles by the Thor missile. It took 15 minutes for the rocket to reach firing height.

Communications in many Pacific areas were blanked immediately. Some Honolulu radio stations were washed out by interference, but returned to the air shortly.

The Japanese Overseas Telephone and Telegraph Co. reported transpacific telephone connections with Honolulu, Oakland, Calif., and Buenos Aires were knocked out right after the explosion. Service was restored a short time later, a company spokesman said.

The Thor was the same type missile that had failed twice before in efforts to explode the big nuclear warhead.

The nuclear warhead was described as in the megaton-plus range — equivalent to more than one million tons of TNT. It was exploded at an altitude of about 200 miles, unofficial sources said.

There were reports that the device may have packed as much power as 10 megatons. Task Force 8 officials would not confirm this.

They declined comment on questions as to whether this was an atomic or a hydrogen bomb.

Even if it was only one megaton, the bomb would be 50 times more powerful than the atomic bomb exploded over Hiroshima. That bomb had a blast equal to 20,000 tons of TNT.

A task force spokesman, asked if the blast was considered a success, smiled and said, "Certainly."

It was believed the success will raise U.S. prestige in the missile field, after the two successive failures at Johnston Island.

There was no immediate word on whether there will be further tests at the antenna-studded island. Before the shot, it was speculated that the high-altitude series might be curtailed because of the many delays.

A cloud cover over the Hawaiian Islands, 750 miles northeast of Johnston, blocked a view of the fireball. The flash penetrated the cloud banks, lighting the Hawaiian chain in a brilliant glare.

The initial flash was lightening-like, first greenish and fading to blue. The glare was followed by an orange glow which tinted clouds with a halo visible for

West Virginia Cites Boaters During Check

4 Along Upper Ohio Hit By Crackdown Following Fatality

West Virginia conservation officers opened an all-out campaign to enforce boating regulations on the upper Ohio River Saturday by launching their speedboat at Chester and making four arrests.

The crackdown was triggered by the fatal pleasure boat - towboat collision last Sunday at Brilliant and "numerous reports of cowboying and drunken power boat operation," a Conservation Department spokesman said.

The officers first put their boat in the Ohio at Chester Saturday, made four arrests, and then quit after developing motor trouble.

Moving into Ohio County near Wheeling on Sunday, they launched the stripped-down, 13-foot runabout carrying a souped-up 50 horsepower outboard motor and made 11 more arrests.

Capt. H. E. Shaver, district conservation officer for 18 Northern West Virginia counties, said six arrests were made for failure of boat operators to have boats registered or for improper registration.

Other arrests were for failure to have required safety equipment — including sufficient life preservers.

Capt. Shaver said the Conservation Department will attempt to make as many patrols as possible during the remainder of the boating season from Chester to Parkersburg. Night patrols of the river are under way by the Coast Guard in Pittsburgh.

Mao Denies Any Split By Red Powers

Statement Issued Before Opening Of Kremlin Meeting

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union opened a six-day "Congress for General Disarmament and Peace" in the Kremlin today with delegates treated to a pre-congress show of Soviet-Red Chinese unity.

Premier Khrushchev was to appear before several thousand delegates from 101 countries — 150 from the United States—to "dispel much of the fog generated by opponents of disarmament" in the words of a Pravda advance notice.

The Communist party newspaper set the theme for congress attacks on "American imperialism" and professions of solidarity betwen Communist China and the Soviet Union.

Sunday's Pravda carried a statement of Mao Tung, chief of the Red China delegation to the congress, hailing Khrushchev's July 2 pledge of Soviet support for the Chinese Communists if an attack from Formosa developed.

Tung is not listed as holding any government post but he has been active in government-sponsored peace council projects.

His statement emphasized Soviet-Chinese cooperation. It omitted the familiar formula employed up to two or three years ago in which the Soviet Union was hailed as the leader of the socialist camp.

Goulart Offers Rocha As Brazilian Premier

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP)—President Joao Goulart called on Brazil's Chamber of Deputies today to approve Francisco Brochado da Rocha as prime minister and end the 13-day-old political crisis which caused rioting that killed 11 persons.

Some deputies were said to oppose Rocha, a provincial official in Rio Grande do Sul State where he is a close associate of left-leaning Gov. Leonel Brizola.

It marked Goulart's third attempt to form a new government since Prime Minister Tancredo Neves and his Cabinet resigned June 26 to be eligible under the constitution to run in the October congressional elections.

The crisis has been marked by food riots and a general strike by labor unions demanding a prime minister favorable to their cause.

Notice! Trades and Labor Council delegates. Regular meeting Wednesday, July 11, 7:30 p.m. I. B. of O. P. Building, W 6th St., by order of president.—Adv.

16 Flee Airliner

Hostess Heroine As Plane Burns

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—A Continental Airline turbo-prop Viscount caught fire and crashed three minutes after taking off from Amarillo air terminal Sunday.

The 13 passengers and 3 crew members escaped minutes before several explosions rocked the wreckage. Several passengers suffered cuts and bruises in the wheels-up landing. They were released after treatment.

Capt. Lawrence Lauratis, El Paso, Tex., the pilot, said he and First Officer E. C. Gorman, also of El Paso, knew the plane was in trouble within a minute after they took off on a flight to Lubbock, Tex.

Neither Lauratis nor Gorman had time to make an announcement over the public address system but hostess Linda Howard, sensing the danger, walked calmly up and down the aisle reassuring the passengers.

Miss Howard, who has been a hostess 14 months, said, "I just asked God to help get the plane down as safely as possible.

"I don't know if I was really afraid or not. There was no time for that."

She said she reached the rear of the plane seconds before the crash, "fell into an empty seat and did not have time to put the seat belt on."

Because the fire was in the right wing, Miss Howard decided to get the passengers out an emergency door in the rear. Harold V. Hunter, a passenger from Gardena, Calif., helped her open the door.

The plane traveled 2½ miles from the end of the runway before the pilot set it down in a recently harvested wheat field.

Gene Cagle of Amarillo, who was rabbit hunting, said the plane flew over him.

"I saw fire on that one (right) engine," Cagle said. "It was smoking and burning. I wondered if they were supposed to do that. Then the fire began getting bigger and the plane nosed down."

The plane, which can carry 60 passengers and cost about $1 million, was destroyed.

Party Confidence Shown In Republicans' Feuding

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are feuding and fighting among themselves with all the vigor of a party confident it will have some political cake to slice after the November balloting.

Traditionally, the minority tends to patch up its differences and present a united front. But with economic uneasiness in the country spurring their election hopes, Republicans have brought their brawling out for public display.

At the moment, Gov. Wesley Powell of New Hampshire, former chairman of the Governors Conference, is on the attack against Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, a potential bidder for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

In center stage party members are battling over the usefulness and objectives of the All Republican Conference and the National Republican Citizens Committee.

The cross-fire around these two party groups has been so hot that Chariaman William E. Miller was constrained to write all GOP national committee members Sunday defending them. Miller has said Republicans cannot afford the luxury of disunity.

Miller said the All Republican Conference, which had its inaugural session at former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's Gettysburg, Pa., farm June 30 had been very well received.

As for the citizens group, headed by Eisenhower as honorary chairman, Miller said there is a firm agreement that it will cooperate closely with established party agencies and will avoid wasteful duplication and overlap.

West Virginia Cites Boaters During Check

4 Along Upper Ohio Hit By Crackdown Following Fatality

West Virginia conservation officers opened an all-out campaign to enforce boating regulations on the upper Ohio River Saturday by launching their speedboat at Chester and making four arrests.

The crackdown was triggered by the fatal pleasure boat - towboat collision last Sunday at Brilliant and "numerous reports of cowboying and drunken power boat operation," a Conservation Department spokesman said.

The officers first put their boat in the Ohio at Chester Saturday, made four arrests, and then quit after developing motor trouble.

Moving into Ohio County near Wheeling on Sunday, they launched the stripped-down, 13-foot runabout carrying a souped-up 50 horsepower outboard motor and made 11 more arrests.

Capt. H. E. Shaver, district conservation officer for 18 Northern West Virginia counties, said six arrests were made for failure of boat operators to have boats registered or for improper registration.

Other arrests were for failure to have required safety equipment — including sufficient life preservers.

Capt. Shaver said the Conservation Department will attempt to make as many patrols as possible during the remainder of the boating season from Chester to Parkersburg. Night patrols of the river are under way by the Coast Guard in Pittsburgh.

Child Shaken In Car Crash

A 5-year-old boy was shaken but apparently unhurt Saturday at 3 p. m. when his mother's car was struck from the rear by another auto on W. 5th St. at West Alley, police reported.

Joseph E. Arrowsmith was a passenger in a 1956 sedan driven by his mother, Mrs. Irene E. Arrowsmith, 38, of 644 Riley Ave., which was struck by a 1957 sedan operated by Frank J. Forzano, 55, of Harding Ave., officers said.

Police said the crash damaged the rear of the Arrowsmith car and caused extensive damage to the front of Forzano's car. Both vehicles were westbound.

Mrs. Arrowsmith said she was making a right turn into West Alley when her car was struck. Forzano told police he was fumbling in his trousers pocket for change for the Newell Bridge toll collector and when he looked up and saw the Arrowsmith car it was too late to stop.

Two parked cars were damaged in another crash Saturday at 12:21 p. m. on W. 7th St. 50 feet east of Jackson St., officers said.

A 1955 sedan driven by James R. Higgins, 40, of Negley R. D. 1 hit parked autos owned by Evelyn G. Link of Oakmont and John Covert, 306 Gardendale Ave., officers said.

Higgins told police he was driving east on W. 7th when an unidentified car forced him from the traffic lane and caused him to hit the parked autos. There was damage to the left front of the Link car, a 1962 sedan, and the left rear of the Covert auto, a 1959 import, police said.

Refreshments were served 30 by Mrs. Edna Keirnan, assisted by Mrs. Evelyn Walker. Mr. and Mrs. Livezey plan to spend their time gardening and relaxing at home.

He saw a 6-footer behind the home of neighbor Lloyd Betts. Cance moved quietly, cautiously toward the figure, then swung the bat.

Said Betts later: "He darn near killed my banana tree."

Arfman Attacks New State Rules For Rest Homes

County Judge Herbert Arfman of Salem, head of the Ohio Federation of Nursing Homes, said over the weekend his group will take legal action against new rules for operation of nursing homes laid down Saturday by the Ohio Public Health Council.

Increases in space requirements per patient and personnel training were the most controversial issues in a set of 1960 rules, which never became effective because of legal action by organized nursing home operators. They're included in the new regulations.

Judge Arfman said "by passing the rules, the health department showed a total disregard for laws of the state and fair play."

He said that "the rules not only are unreasonable and impractical and designed to put the small nursing home out of business but they are totally illegal and were adopted illegally."

The newly - adopted rules, scheduled to become effective July 20, tighten the regulations on space requirements by setting Jan. 1, 1966, as the effective date for existing nursing homes to provide a minimum of 70 square feet per patient in multiple bedrooms. New homes built now must have a minimum requirement of 70 square feet.

Chester Officials See 3 Area Sewage Plants

A group of Chester city officials visited sewage disposal facilities at Paden City, McMechen and West Liberty Saturday to acquaint themselves with the design and operating procedures.

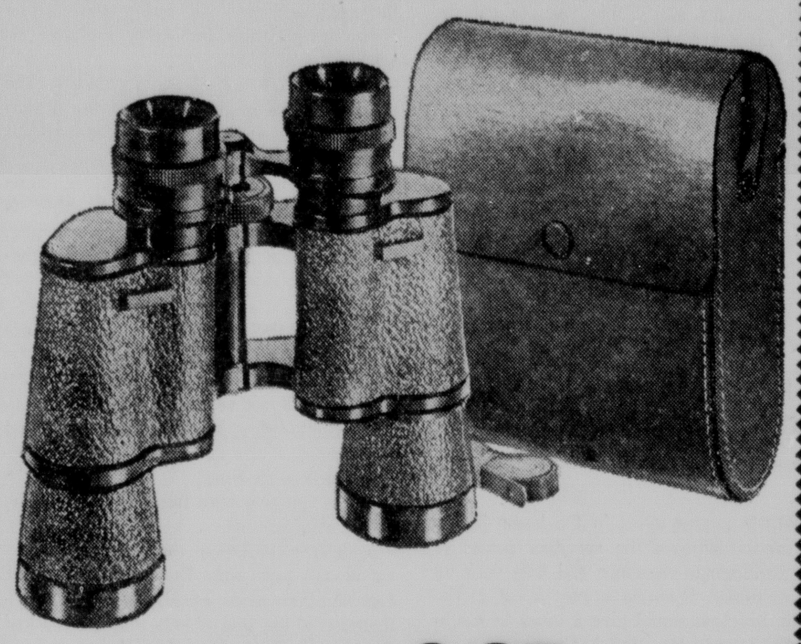

A meeting is set Monday by city authorities with A. R. Todd of Wheeling, engineer, and representatives of bonding companies concerning plans for Chester's planned sewage disposal plant, for which a federal grant of $105,000 has been allocated.

On the tour Saturday were Mayor Harry Abrabs, Councilmen Carl Graham, Wayne Hutton, Charles Kology and Don Chaney and Lewis Govey, water works superintendent.

Child Shaken In Car Crash

A 5-year-old boy was shaken but apparently unhurt Saturday at 3 p. m. when his mother's car was struck from the rear by another auto on W. 5th St. at West Alley, police reported.

Joseph E. Arrowsmith was a passenger in a 1956 sedan driven by his mother, Mrs. Irene E. Arrowsmith, 38, of 644 Riley Ave., which was struck by a 1957 sedan operated by Frank J. Forzano, 55, of Harding Ave., officers said.

Police said the crash damaged the rear of the Arrowsmith car and caused extensive damage to the front of Forzano's car. Both vehicles were westbound.

Mrs. Arrowsmith said she was making a right turn into West Alley when her car was struck. Forzano told police he was fumbling in his trousers pocket for change for the Newell Bridge toll collector and when he looked up and saw the Arrowsmith car it was too late to stop.

Two parked cars were damaged in another crash Saturday at 12:21 p. m. on W. 7th St. 50 feet east of Jackson St., officers said.

A 1955 sedan driven by James R. Higgins, 40, of Negley R. D. 1 hit parked autos owned by Evelyn G. Link of Oakmont and John Covert, 306 Gardendale Ave., officers said.

Higgins told police he was driving east on W. 7th when an unidentified car forced him from the traffic lane and caused him to hit the parked autos. There was damage to the left front of the Link car, a 1962 sedan, and the left rear of the Covert auto, a 1959 import, police said.

Retired Man Honored By Crook Co.'s Staff

Hershell Livezey of Oakmont, who retired June 1 after 37½ years as a furniture salesman with the Frank Crook Co., was honored by the company's employes and their wives Saturday night at a party at his home.

Miss Phyllis Crook, president of the company, presented Livezey with a lounge chair. Games and contests were held, with Mrs. Grace Treleven and Miss Nancy Carroll planning the entertainment.

Refreshments were served 30 by Mrs. Edna Keirnan, assisted by Mrs. Evelyn Walker. Mr. and Mrs. Livezey plan to spend their time gardening and relaxing at home.

Intruder Turns Out To Be Banana Tree

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The folks in a westside Phoenix neighborhood were pretty itchy over the meanderings of a prowler.

Marvin Cance heard a noise outside one night, grabbed a baseball bat and went after the intruder.

He saw a 6-footer behind the home of neighbor Lloyd Betts. Cance moved quietly, cautiously toward the figure, then swung the bat.

Said Betts later: "He darn near killed my banana tree."

Arfman Attacks New State Rules For Rest Homes

County Judge Herbert Arfman of Salem, head of the Ohio Federation of Nursing Homes, said over the weekend his group will take legal action against new rules for operation of nursing homes laid down Saturday by the Ohio Public Health Council.

Increases in space requirements per patient and personnel training were the most controversial issues in a set of 1960 rules, which never became effective because of legal action by organized nursing home operators. They're included in the new regulations.

Judge Arfman said "by passing the rules, the health department showed a total disregard for laws of the state and fair play."

He said that "the rules not only are unreasonable and impractical and designed to put the small nursing home out of business but they are totally illegal and were adopted illegally."

The newly - adopted rules, scheduled to become effective July 20, tighten the regulations on space requirements by setting Jan. 1, 1966, as the effective date for existing nursing homes to provide a minimum of 70 square feet per patient in multiple bedrooms. New homes built now must have a minimum requirement of 70 square feet.

Chester Officials See 3 Area Sewage Plants

A group of Chester city officials visited sewage disposal facilities at Paden City, McMechen and West Liberty Saturday to acquaint themselves with the design and operating procedures.

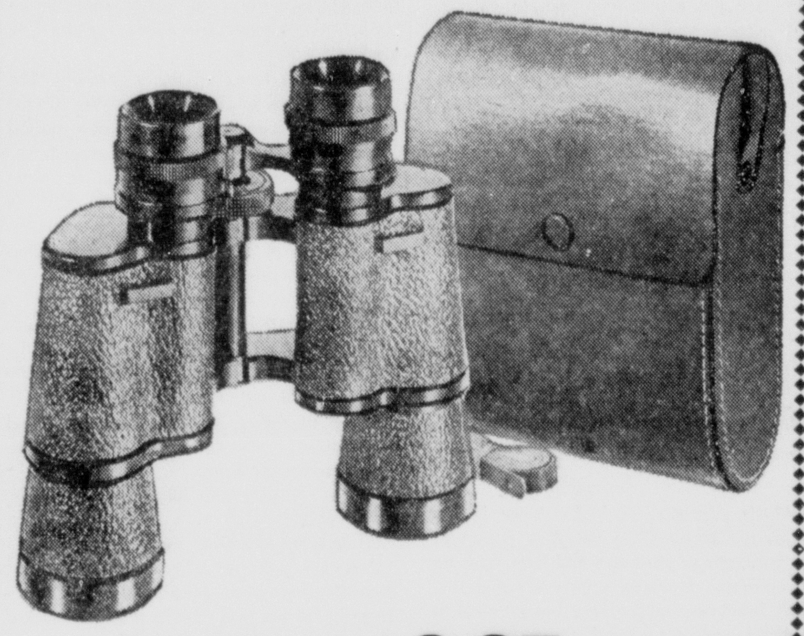

A meeting is set Monday by city authorities with A. R. Todd of Wheeling, engineer, and representatives of bonding companies concerning plans for Chester's planned sewage disposal plant, for which a federal grant of $105,000 has been allocated.

On the tour Saturday were Mayor Harry Abrabs, Councilmen Carl Graham, Wayne Hutton, Charles Kology and Don Chaney and Lewis Govey, water works superintendent.

Out Of The Government's Pocket

Pressure for action this year to cut income taxes across-the-board is piling up on President Kennedy, who originally favored putting off a general tax reduction until next year.

The pressure is coming from a rare combination of forces—business, labor and Congress. The fact all these segments of the political and economic community are in favor of tax-cutting action explains why the proposal is for across-the-board reductions with every taxpayer getting his share of the slice.

The basic argument in favor of quick action is the need to spur the nation's economic pulse, which has been thumping along at an unspectacular pace despite political promises and selected nostrums advanced by the Kennedy administration.

LABOR argues a cut in the lower brackets would increase the spending power of the workingman-consumer and thus perk up the economy. Business argues a cut in the upper brackets would give a boost to much-needed investment capital. Congress argues one is as important as the other to do a real job on the economy.

Many economists support the idea of an income-tax reduction over-all on the grounds present rates are direct descendants of wartime rates designed to put a clamp on consumer spending as well as to finance the war effort. The present economic situation, they contend, does not justify continuation of such high rates for either investors or workers.

There is logic in all the arguments. The danger we see is omission from the discussion of one basic point: From whose pocket is the refunded revenue going to come?

The answer is plain: It ought to come from the government's pocket. This is the only alternative to deficit spending, which is out of line even at the present unreduced tax rates.

IF THE LOSS of revenue resulting from a general tax reduction turns out to be merely a larger federal budget deficit, the economy will not really gain anything.

If, on the other hand, the federal budget is balanced at the same time taxes are reduced across-the-board, a real gain can be made in spurring both the economy and the people's faith in it.

Aside from economic considerations, a tax cut always looks rosy. But leaving economic considerations aside would merely be a continuation of the kind of folly that has marked finance for too long, through boom and recession alike.

People have talked for a long time, with no noticeable results, about the desirability of cutting nonessential government spending. There would be no better time to stop talking about it and do something about it than when the proposed across-the-board tax cut takes effect.

Evils Of Bureaucracy

There was a time when the evils of an overgrown federal bureaucracy were predictions. That time is long since gone. The evils are with us in the here-and-now.

President Kennedy attested to this himself when he addressed career men in the State Department. His remarks, offered late in May, have just been published in the Foreign Service Journal.

He told the diplomats today's world demands new ideas, new policies, new judgments and it demands them quickly. The lower levels of the State Department should not become so enmeshed in procedures, the President continued, that a handful of already overburdened men are forced to handle decisions which should be the work of the entire department.

These remarks indicate the President was speaking from past experience rather than future expectation. He, and his secretary of state, have not been happy with the performance they have gotten.

Some people have grave doubts anything can be done to correct the situation. This pessimistic outlook was reported in a magazine article some months ago by a Washington correspondent of considerable reputation.

But there are many, including the President and his constituents, who feel something must be done. He is right when he says too much is at stake for the United States in today's world to allow a bureaucratic machine to swallow us up.

The basic problem, perhaps, is that too many people in Washington still think of the evils of bureaucracy in terms of predictions. They are so close to the bureaucratic machine they do not realize it already has reached evil—and dangerous—proportions.

How Clubby?

By Richard Spong

Sophisticated is one of President Kennedy's favorite words, and as such it is getting a big play around Washington. Well, then, to misuse the word slightly — as the President almost always slightly misuses it — how sophisticated are we going to get about racial discrimination?

When is a club not a club? The question comes up again at the national convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, the statutes of which limit the membership to "Caucasians only." The New York Elks Lodge No. 1, largest in the state, is petitioning the Grand Lodge judiciary committee to drop the phrase.

This is the latest chapter in a tale that goes back at least to last winter, when members of the Kennedy administration, including the attorney general, began resigning from exclusive Washington clubs which would not admit Negroes as members or even as guests. (It was not partisan — George Cabot Lodge, now running against Teddy Kennedy for the Massachusetts Senate seat Jack Kennedy once held, resigned from the Metropolitan Club for the same reason.) The to-do eventually led to a change in the by-laws of the Cosmos Club.

THESE THINGS SPREAD. Under the pressure from Negro groups, Mayor Robert F. Wagner, Jr. turned in his sneakers to the snooty New York Athletic Club. Then somebody asked, embarrassingly enough, what about the BPOE, of which Bob Wagner in 1942 was exalted ruler of New York Lodge No. 1?

The mayor said he'd review the admissions policies of all his clubs and then "take appropriate action." He is still reviewing. Meantime the Manhattan lodge is moving to take Wagner — and all politicians in areas with large minority voting blocs — off at least one hook.

New York is one of about a score of states which have anti-discrimination laws. The State Commission Against Discrimination interprets the New York law as forbidding discrimination in "places of public accommodation" — not clubs.

A sticky case came up three years ago when the West Side (Forest Hills) Tennis Club refused to extend membership to the 15-year-old son of Dr. Ralph J. Bunche. The club insisted it was private, "like a person's home." It received no city tax concessions but paid (under protest) levies based on an assessment of $550,000. It had been considered exempt from the city licensing law.

But Forest Hills had for years been the home of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association-sponsored national tennis championships and Davis Cup matches. West Side got 50 per cent of admissions for the national matches, 25 per cent of the Davis Cup gate.

Althea Gibson, former national women's champion, called the club's attitude "ridiculous" but said she'd play there "if they invite me."

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored Persons, said: "Leave us not be too emotional on this problem. Nothing in the Constitutimn says people can't make jackass rules for themselves."

West Side eventually backed down under community pressure. But other private membership organizations continue to have their troubles. The American Legion, for example, kicked out its white-only, fun-loving 40 — 8 three years ago, but continues to have posts which by choice are racially segregated. The question remains for each group to decide for itself: How clubby do you want to be?

Coventry's Triumph

By Nicholas King

COVENTRY

One of the great focuses of tourism in Europe this summer will be the cathedral at Coventry, a new fortress of the human spirit rising among the ruins of the old.

Tourism — or pilgrimage? Were the quarter of a million people of all beliefs and races who passed through its west doors in the first three weeks after its consecration merely curious to see a distinguished ensemble of contemporary English art which adorns, in glass and tapestry and bronze, the cathedral's interior?

Or did they, and do they, feel the pull of a spirituality realized richly and directly?

When the cathedral was first considered 12 years ago, people in Coventry and elsewhere complained that the money would be better spent on hospitals and social services.

But it was wisely argued at the time that there is a material hunger and there is spiritual hunger, and that there are times when it was the second hunger which needed most to be satisfied.

AS THE THOUSANDS wind slowly down the north choir aisle of the cathedral on summer Sundays, as they turn behind the high altar and move out again, passing the font hollowed out of a boulder brought from Bethlehem, one feels how right the argument was.

And, looking out over the smoky factories, the dreary rows of gray brick houses of a midland city, and the gaping holes still left by the bombs of November, 1940, one feels, too, that this is exactly the place to have started satisfying the hunger of the spirit.

The new cathedral has been built at right angles to the old, its soaring porch roof just shielding an edge of tattered Gothic tracery.

From the beginning, Sir Basil Spence, the architect of Coventry, was convinced that there should be no reconstruction of the Gothic church, nor even that a new one should occupy the same site. As he walked among the ruined stones, he felt that they composed a cathedral still. "It was saying to me in a quiet voice: 'I am the sacrifice; build now for the future, the resurrection.' "

The Waiting Room

Nixon Offers Economic Program

By Richard Nixon

While Victor Riesel is enroute to Europe, his column is being written by "guest columnists." Today's column is by Richard M. Nixon.

We no longer live in an era where a Vanderbilt could get away with saying, "The public be damned." Neither can our nation afford to allow its government to say, "Business be damned."

The indignant response of the national administration last April to a steel price rise was the typical reaction of a bully.

Regardlessof the merits of the case, government acted in a way that was destined to create a public loss of confidence in private industry and a business loss of confidence in government.

The primary way we make new jobs in our society is still through the expansion of private industry. It is the expectation of private profit-making that determines whether there will be a job gap or a job surplus.

WHEN MEN are eager to expend time, talent and money in the hopes of gain, there will be more jobs available.

When men are convinced that such expenditures will result in losses or meager profits, jobs dry up.

Man's will to risk by investing and reinvesting goes hand-in-hand with the need for labor.

This is why the present anti-business sentiment on the part of our government is so distressing.

The stock market is no longer a rich man's gaming table. There are now more than 15 million American share owners. Few of these people are "fat cats" — many are retired persons, housewives, middle-income families, and blue-collar workers.

Many more of us are affected through our deposits in savings and loan associations. And all of us are affected by any canceled business expansion or postponed purchases that result from a government-created loss of confidence in American industry.

Nothing could be more mistaken than government policies that could "kill the goose that lays the golden egg."

It is not government that creates jobs, plows back profits into expansion and research, and generates the wealth that assures the world's highest standard of living. It is private free enterprise.

TODAY the United States is confronted by a state-controlled economic system that vows to bury us. We are also faced with fierce competition from Western Europe and Japan. This, then, should be a time for our government to encourage industry to greater heights of productivity.

Instead, this seems to be a time when some state governments and our national administration are too often influenced by men of little faith in free enterprise.

Our elected state and national leaders have a duty to leash these appointees who shoot from the hip. There have been entirely too many government pot-shots at private enterprise lately.

No one should condone wrongdoing — whether in business, labor or individual action. But when government uses a shotgun, innocent bystanders are bound to get hit. This is what happened when Washington muzzled the steel industry. And, the shock waves hit the stock market.

But what is past is prologue and as we look to the future it is imperative to take remedial steps to strengthen our economic system.

I BELIEVE these six actions are of crucial importance.

1. We must do a much better job in our schools of teaching the theory and facts of free enterprise.

The shocking results of polls taken in schools across the country reveal that our youngsters have little knowledge of the free enterprise system. Among many misconceptions, there are surprisingly widespread beliefs that profits are somehow evil.

Until we fully understand that American industry carries a large part of our country's greatness on its shoulders, we operate with a debilitating handicap.

2. We must have government dedicated to the primacy of private action.

Government must believe that the right way to get a job done is to first turn to private enterprise; only if the private sector cannot do the job should government step in and do it.

This is how government sets an example for individual initiative.

3. Government must create a climate that is fair to both management and labor.

Government must not use its vast power unfairly to tip the delicate balance in labor-management negotiations.

In this era of tough foreign competition, labor and management leaders must act responsibly to hold costs in check.

4. Government must reduce the burden of taxation on savings and investing in order to provide the necessary incentives for growth.

5. We must have cost-conscious government in order to assure that taxes will not go up.

6. Government and non-government leaders must provide a greater sense of national purpose.

OUR NATION can win the battle between freedom and slavery. But it is not enough to know the tactics of Communism. We must also know our own strength.

The United States has grown and prospered under the free enterprise profit system. We must not be defensive or apologetic in speaking up for that system.

We need to have an honest pride And we need to want to do still better in the future.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Decal girls of the Taylor, Smith & Taylor Pottery Co., Machine No. 3, were entertained with a chicken dinner at the home of Mrs. Alfred Burbick of Park Way.

A flag tournament trophy was won by Mrs. Herbert A. Smith at the Country Club.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Miss Dora McConnell was received as a new member of the Young People's Chrisian Union of the Second United Presbyterian Church.

TEN YEARS AGO — Jacqueline L. Ketchum, Box 435, Station A, joined the Women's Army Corps.

Dog Days

The dog days of ancient Greece and Rome affect people today much as they did 3,000 years ago.

Early astronomers noticed that Sirius, the most radiant star in the sky, rose with the sun in midsummer. They believed its heat intensified that of the sun, the National Geographic Society says. Since Sirius is in the constellation of Canis Major, "the Large Dog", ancients called the hottest period dog days.

People are still inclined to follow the advice of the poet Hesiod: "When Sirius parches head and knees, and the body is dried up by reason of the heat, then sit in the shade and drink."

Weathermen have long known, of course, that summer's discomfort is caused not by a star but by a combination of heat and humidity, the amount of water vapor in the air. By July and August, oceans have lost their winter chill. Days are still long, and the sun beats down fiercely from high in the sky.

As temperatures rise, more moisture evaporates. The air becomes muggy. From every pond, ocean, river, and stream, water is drawn into the air at the rate of 16 million tons a second. Eventually it will return as rain, snow, or some other form of precipitation, but while it is retained it can cause considerable misery.

Europeans Confused

By David Lawrence

Kennedy's United Europe Speech Analyzed

GENEVA

President Kennedy's address at Independence Hall on July 4 was a bit confusing to Europeans. They couldn't tell whether he was forecasting a United States of Europe along the lines of his own country or whether, despite a loose use of words, he was trying to indicate that Europe might well have a federation or alliance as each country retained its sovereignty.

David Lawrence

Mr. Kennedy was on firm ground as he extolled the idea of independence and as he rejoiced in the recently intensified movement away from colonialism throughout the world. He was logical, too, when he spoke of a declaration of "interdependence," for this concept means a "partnership" or strengthened alliance as between Europe and America.

The puzzlement developed, however, when Mr. Kennedy carried his analogy further, as he said:

"As apt and applicable as the Declaration of Independence is today, we would do well to honor the other historic document drafted in this hall, the Constitution of the United States.

"For it stressed not independence, but interdependence; not the individual liberty of one, but the indivisible liberty of all."

But has the Constitution — as interpreted by the Supreme Court of the United States in recent years — stressed the "interdependence" of the several states of the Union, or has it emphasized the dominance of and control of the states by the national government?

AMONG EUROPEANS, moreover, this will be interpreted as a forecast by Mr. Kennedy that the "common market" organization is the beginning of something patterned after the American union. For later on in the same speech, the President said:

"It would be premature at this time to do more than indicate the high regard with which we view the formation of this partnership. The first order of business is for our European friends to go forward in forming the more perfect union which will someday make this partnership possible.

"A great new edifice is not built overnight. It was eleven years from the Declaration of Independence to the writing of the Constitution. The construction of workable federal institutions required still another generation."

Is the President really predicting a United States of Europe with a constitution like that in America?

Do the peoples of Europe today have any such idea in mind as they applaud, for economic purposes, the building of the Common Market?

Do the people of France or Britain, for example, intend respectively to give up their independence and sovereignty as the various states of the American Union have been forced to give these up through decisions of the country's highest court?

Or is it contemplated that each member country will continue to run its domestic affairs and will simply give up something of its sovereignty insofar as military and foreign policies are concerned?

PLAINLY, the emphasis in Europe today is on the financial and commercial advantages of a trade union which can deal singly with the United States and other countries on tariffs. But certain countries like Sweden and Switzerland are making it plain that they do not mean to go in for any "political association."

The idea of a United States of Europe has its champions in all parts of Europe, but the proposal could hardly win a majority vote in any country at this time.

In fact, reiteration of prophesies that the Common Market is merely the forerunner of another internal union like that of America means in many quarters the putting up of roadblocks to an endorsement of the common market organization invarious countries, including Great Britain.

Obviously it is better for America to deal with a single entity in trade matters than with diverse governments. That is why perhaps Mr. Kennedy is boosting unity in all its aspects. He said in his Fourth of July speech:

"We will be prepared to discuss with a united Europe the ways and means of forming a concrete Atlantic partnership, a mutually beneficial partnership between the new union now emerging in Europe and the old American union founded here 175 years ago."

REALISTICALLY, however, Gen. de Gaulle, for instance, hasn't any notion whatsoever of transferring the sovereignty of France to a political union like that which prevails in America. Nor would any French president or premier dare to advocate such a course.

External confederation is all that the majority of Europeans have in mind today. Thus, the London Times, in commenting on the Kennedy speech, emphasized the idea of an alliance and said that the President is seeking "a genuine partnership based on growing equality and shared responsibility." The editorial expressed gratitude that the United States isn't trying in any way "to crab the scheme" of a Common Market.

All Is Confusion!

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

It's been very busy in the department of knocks, boosts, double talk and utter confusion.

Overnight, Joe Moriarty, a policy racketeer, turned into one of the American banking system's biggest boosters. He has become a reminder to people going away that their money is safer in the bank.

Some workmen, remodeling a garage, found $2.4 million in the trunk of an old car which used to belong to Moriarty before he went away to a New Jersey prison for a few years.

The government, which said Moriarty owed it a fortune in taxes, grabbed the dough.

Elvis J. Stahr Jr., who just quit as secretary of the Army to become president of Indiana University, called Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara probably the best defense secretary in history.

Then he said, in effect, that McNamara has taken too much authority into his own hands.

And McNamara, who three weeks ago seemed to be saying this country would not hit Soviet cities in a nuclear war, indicated last week this is not exactly what he meant.

The Pennsylvania conference of the 50 governors couldn't reach full agreement on what ought to be done about civil rights, medical care for the aged, or the Supreme Court's ban on official prayers in public schools.

They finally agreed to be against something, which wouldn't make anybody back home mad at them: they don't want the government to cut down the size of their National Guard.

Two fellows named Ben in Algeria, which only a week ago voted for independence from France, got into a power struggle which may soak Algeria in a new wave of blood.

The two—Premier Yousef ben Khedda and Vice Premier Mohammed ben Bella — don't agree on how to run the country which means they don't agree on which should be the boss.

In one of the strangest weddings in years—a kind of shotgun marriage brought about by what they seemed to think is economic necessity — the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the AFL-CIO for once saw eye-to-eye.

They urged President Kennedy to ask Congress for a tax cut now to boost the economy fast. That's all they agreed on. They disagreed on who should get the biggest cut: the rich or the far-from-rich.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman had just finished telling the Senate his department had gotten rid of any employes known to have accepted favors from Texas promoter Billie Sol Estes.

Then up popped two minor department employes from Oklahoma. They had sworn under oath they received nothing from Estes. Now they told the Senate they got $1,640 from the Estes outfit in a cotton deal.

They tried to resign but Freeman suspended them. Department officials said this was better than accepting their resignations since it would prevent their future employment by the department.

This probably makes no sense to anyone outside the department.

Out Of The Government's Pocket

Pressure for action this year to cut income taxes across-the-board is piling up on President Kennedy, who originally favored putting off a general tax reduction until next year.

The pressure is coming from a rare combination of forces—business, labor and Congress. The fact all these segments of the political and economic community are in favor of tax-cutting action explains why the proposal is for across-the-board reductions with every taxpayer getting his share of the slice.

The basic argument in favor of quick action is the need to spur the nation's economic pulse, which has been thumping along at an unspectacular pace despite political promises and selected nostrums advanced by the Kennedy administration.

LABOR argues a cut in the lower brackets would increase the spending power of the workingman-consumer and thus perk up the economy. Business argues a cut in the upper brackets would give a boost to much-needed investment capital. Congress argues one is as important as the other to do a real job on the economy.

Many economists support the idea of an income-tax reduction over-all on the grounds present rates are direct descendants of wartime rates designed to put a clamp on consumer spending as well as to finance the war effort. The present economic situation, they contend, does not justify continuation of such high rates for either investors or workers.

There is logic in all the arguments. The danger we see is omission from the discussion of one basic point: From whose pocket is the refunded revenue going to come?

The answer is plain: It ought to come from the government's pocket. This is the only alternative to deficit spending, which is out of line even at the present unreduced tax rates.

IF THE LOSS of revenue resulting from a general tax reduction turns out to be merely a larger federal budget deficit, the economy will not really gain anything.

If, on the other hand, the federal budget is balanced at the same time taxes are reduced across-the-board, a real gain can be made in spurring both the economy and the people's faith in it.

Aside from economic considerations, a tax cut always looks rosy. But leaving economic considerations aside would merely be a continuation of the kind of folly that has marked finance for too long, through boom and recession alike.

People have talked for a long time, with no noticeable results, about the desirability of cutting nonessential government spending. There would be no better time to stop talking about it and do something about it than when the proposed across-the-board tax cut takes effect.

Evils Of Bureaucracy

There was a time when the evils of an overgrown federal bureaucracy were predictions. That time is long since gone. The evils are with us in the here-and-now.

President Kennedy attested to this himself when he addressed career men in the State Department. His remarks, offered late in May, have just been published in the Foreign Service Journal.

He told the diplomats today's world demands new ideas, new policies, new judgments and it demands them quickly. The lower levels of the State Department should not become so enmeshed in procedures, the President continued, that a handful of already overburdened men are forced to handle decisions which should be the work of the entire department.

These remarks indicate the President was speaking from past experience rather than future expectation. He, and his secretary of state, have not been happy with the performance they have gotten.

Some people have grave doubts anything can be done to correct the situation. This pessimistic outlook was reported in a magazine article some months ago by a Washington correspondent of considerable reputation.

But there are many, including the President and his constituents, who feel something must be done. He is right when he says too much is at stake for the United States in today's world to allow a bureaucratic machine to swallow us up.

The basic problem, perhaps, is that too many people in Washington still think of the evils of bureaucracy in terms of predictions. They are so close to the bureaucratic machine they do not realize it already has reached evil—and dangerous—proportions.

How Clubby?

By Richard Spong

Sophisticated is one of President Kennedy's favorite words, and as such it is getting a big play around Washington. Well, then, to misuse the word slightly — as the President almost always slightly misuses it — how sophisticated are we going to get about racial discrimination?

When is a club not a club? The question comes up again at the national convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, the statutes of which limit the membership to "Caucasians only." The New York Elks Lodge No. 1, largest in the state, is petitioning the Grand Lodge judiciary committee to drop the phrase.

This is the latest chapter in a tale that goes back at least to last winter, when members of the Kennedy administration, including the attorney general, began resigning from exclusive Washington clubs which would not admit Negroes as members or even as guests. (It was not partisan — George Cabot Lodge, now running against Teddy Kennedy for the Massachusetts Senate seat Jack Kennedy once held, resigned from the Metropolitan Club for the same reason.) The to-do eventually led to a change in the by-laws of the Cosmos Club.

THESE THINGS SPREAD. Under the pressure from Negro groups, Mayor Robert F. Wagner, Jr. turned in his sneakers to the snooty New York Athletic Club. Then somebody asked, embarrassingly enough, what about the BPOE, of which Bob Wagner in 1942 was exalted ruler of New York Lodge No. 1?

The mayor said he'd review the admissions policies of all his clubs and then "take appropriate action." He is still reviewing. Meantime the Manhattan lodge is moving to take Wagner — and all politicians in areas with large minority voting blocs — off at least one hook.

New York is one of about a score of states which have anti-discrimination laws. The State Commission Against Discrimination interprets the New York law as forbidding discrimination in "places of public accommodation" — not clubs.

A sticky case came up three years ago when the West Side (Forest Hills) Tennis Club refused to extend membership to the 15-year-old son of Dr. Ralph J. Bunche. The club insisted it was private, "like a person's home." It received no city tax concessions but paid (under protest) levies based on an assessment of $550,000. It had been considered exempt from the city licensing law.

But Forest Hills had for years been the home of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association-sponsored national tennis championships and Davis Cup matches. West Side got 50 per cent of admissions for the national matches, 25 per cent of the Davis Cup gate.

Althea Gibson, former national women's champion, called the club's attitude "ridiculous" but said she'd play there "if they invite me."

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored Persons, said: "Leave us not be too emotional on this problem. Nothing in the Constitutimn says people can't make jackass rules for themselves."

West Side eventually backed down under community pressure. But other private membership organizations continue to have their troubles. The American Legion, for example, kicked out its white-only, fun-loving 40 — 8 three years ago, but continues to have posts which by choice are racially segregated. The question remains for each group to decide for itself: How clubby do you want to be?

Coventry's Triumph

By Nicholas King

COVENTRY

One of the great focuses of tourism in Europe this summer will be the cathedral at Coventry, a new fortress of the human spirit rising among the ruins of the old.

Tourism — or pilgrimage? Were the quarter of a million people of all beliefs and races who passed through its west doors in the first three weeks after its consecration merely curious to see a distinguished ensemble of contemporary English art which adorns, in glass and tapestry and bronze, the cathedral's interior?

Or did they, and do they, feel the pull of a spirituality realized richly and directly?

When the cathedral was first considered 12 years ago, people in Coventry and elsewhere complained that the money would be better spent on hospitals and social services.

But it was wisely argued at the time that there is a material hunger and there is spiritual hunger, and that there are times when it was the second hunger which needed most to be satisfied.

AS THE THOUSANDS wind slowly down the north choir aisle of the cathedral on summer Sundays, as they turn behind the high altar and move out again, passing the font hollowed out of a boulder brought from Bethlehem, one feels how right the argument was.

And, looking out over the smoky factories, the dreary rows of gray brick houses of a midland city, and the gaping holes still left by the bombs of November, 1940, one feels, too, that this is exactly the place to have started satisfying the hunger of the spirit.

The new cathedral has been built at right angles to the old, its soaring porch roof just shielding an edge of tattered Gothic tracery.

From the beginning, Sir Basil Spence, the architect of Coventry, was convinced that there should be no reconstruction of the Gothic church, nor even that a new one should occupy the same site. As he walked among the ruined stones, he felt that they composed a cathedral still. "It was saying to me in a quiet voice: 'I am the sacrifice; build now for the future, the resurrection.' "

The Waiting Room

Nixon Offers Economic Program

By Richard Nixon

While Victor Riesel is enroute to Europe, his column is being written by "guest columnists." Today's column is by Richard M. Nixon.

We no longer live in an era where a Vanderbilt could get away with saying, "The public be damned." Neither can our nation afford to allow its government to say, "Business be damned."

The indignant response of the national administration last April to a steel price rise was the typical reaction of a bully.

Regardlessof the merits of the case, government acted in a way that was destined to create a public loss of confidence in private industry and a business loss of confidence in government.

The primary way we make new jobs in our society is still through the expansion of private industry. It is the expectation of private profit-making that determines whether there will be a job gap or a job surplus.

WHEN MEN are eager to expend time, talent and money in the hopes of gain, there will be more jobs available.

When men are convinced that such expenditures will result in losses or meager profits, jobs dry up.

Man's will to risk by investing and reinvesting goes hand-in-hand with the need for labor.

This is why the present anti-business sentiment on the part of our government is so distressing.

The stock market is no longer a rich man's gaming table. There are now more than 15 million American share owners. Few of these people are "fat cats" — many are retired persons, housewives, middle-income families, and blue-collar workers.

Many more of us are affected through our deposits in savings and loan associations. And all of us are affected by any canceled business expansion or postponed purchases that result from a government-created loss of confidence in American industry.

Nothing could be more mistaken than government policies that could "kill the goose that lays the golden egg."

It is not government that creates jobs, plows back profits into expansion and research, and generates the wealth that assures the world's highest standard of living. It is private free enterprise.

TODAY the United States is confronted by a state-controlled economic system that vows to bury us. We are also faced with fierce competition from Western Europe and Japan. This, then, should be a time for our government to encourage industry to greater heights of productivity.

Instead, this seems to be a time when some state governments and our national administration are too often influenced by men of little faith in free enterprise.

Our elected state and national leaders have a duty to leash these appointees who shoot from the hip. There have been entirely too many government pot-shots at private enterprise lately.

No one should condone wrongdoing — whether in business, labor or individual action. But when government uses a shotgun, innocent bystanders are bound to get hit. This is what happened when Washington muzzled the steel industry. And, the shock waves hit the stock market.

But what is past is prologue and as we look to the future it is imperative to take remedial steps to strengthen our economic system.

I BELIEVE these six actions are of crucial importance.

1. We must do a much better job in our schools of teaching the theory and facts of free enterprise.

The shocking results of polls taken in schools across the country reveal that our youngsters have little knowledge of the free enterprise system. Among many misconceptions, there are surprisingly widespread beliefs that profits are somehow evil.

Until we fully understand that American industry carries a large part of our country's greatness on its shoulders, we operate with a debilitating handicap.

2. We must have government dedicated to the primacy of private action.

Government must believe that the right way to get a job done is to first turn to private enterprise; only if the private sector cannot do the job should government step in and do it.

This is how government sets an example for individual initiative.

3. Government must create a climate that is fair to both management and labor.

Government must not use its vast power unfairly to tip the delicate balance in labor-management negotiations.

In this era of tough foreign competition, labor and management leaders must act responsibly to hold costs in check.

4. Government must reduce the burden of taxation on savings and investing in order to provide the necessary incentives for growth.

5. We must have cost-conscious government in order to assure that taxes will not go up.

6. Government and non-government leaders must provide a greater sense of national purpose.

OUR NATION can win the battle between freedom and slavery. But it is not enough to know the tactics of Communism. We must also know our own strength.

The United States has grown and prospered under the free enterprise profit system. We must not be defensive or apologetic in speaking up for that system.

We need to have an honest pride And we need to want to do still better in the future.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Decal girls of the Taylor, Smith & Taylor Pottery Co., Machine No. 3, were entertained with a chicken dinner at the home of Mrs. Alfred Burbick of Park Way.

A flag tournament trophy was won by Mrs. Herbert A. Smith at the Country Club.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Miss Dora McConnell was received as a new member of the Young People's Chrisian Union of the Second United Presbyterian Church.

TEN YEARS AGO — Jacqueline L. Ketchum, Box 435, Station A, joined the Women's Army Corps.

John Golden of Vine St. and Charles Hill of W. 5th St. left for a fishing trip in Canada.

Dog Days

The dog days of ancient Greece and Rome affect people today much as they did 3,000 years ago.

Early astronomers noticed that Sirius, the most radiant star in the sky, rose with the sun in midsummer. They believed its heat intensified that of the sun, the National Geographic Society says. Since Sirius is in the constellation of Canis Major, "the Large Dog", ancients called the hottest period dog days.

People are still inclined to follow the advice of the poet Hesiod: "When Sirius parches head and knees, and the body is dried up by reason of the heat, then sit in the shade and drink."

Weathermen have long known, of course, that summer's discomfort is caused not by a star but by a combination of heat and humidity, the amount of water vapor in the air. By July and August, oceans have lost their winter chill. Days are still long, and the sun beats down fiercely from high in the sky.

As temperatures rise, more moisture evaporates. The air becomes muggy. From every pond, ocean, river, and stream, water is drawn into the air at the rate of 16 million tons a second. Eventually it will return as rain, snow, or some other form of precipitation, but while it is retained it can cause considerable misery.

Europeans Confused

By David Lawrence

GENEVA

President Kennedy's address at Independence Hall on July 4 was a bit confusing to Europeans. They couldn't tell whether he was forecasting a United States of Europe along the lines of his own country or whether, despite a loose use of words, he was trying to indicate that Europe might well have a federation or alliance as each country retained its sovereignty.

David Lawrence

Mr. Kennedy was on firm ground as he extolled the idea of independence and as he rejoiced in the recently intensified movement away from colonialism throughout the world. He was logical, too, when he spoke of a declaration of "interdependence," for this concept means a "partnership" or strengthened alliance as between Europe and America.

The puzzlement developed, however, when Mr. Kennedy carried his analogy further, as he said:

"As apt and applicable as the Declaration of Independence is today, we would do well to honor the other historic document drafted in this hall, the Constitution of the United States.

"For it stressed not independence, but interdependence; not the individual liberty of one, but the indivisible liberty of all."

But has the Constitution — as interpreted by the Supreme Court of the United States in recent years — stressed the "interdependence" of the several states of the Union, or has it emphasized the dominance of and control of the states by the national government?

AMONG EUROPEANS, moreover, this will be interpreted as a forecast by Mr. Kennedy that the "common market" organization is the beginning of something patterned after the American union. For later on in the same speech, the President said:

"It would be premature at this time to do more than indicate the high regard with which we view the formation of this partnership. The first order of business is for our European friends to go forward in forming the more perfect union which will someday make this partnership possible.

"A great new edifice is not built overnight. It was eleven years from the Declaration of Independence to the writing of the Constitution. The construction of workable federal institutions required still another generation."

Is the President really predicting a United States of Europe with a constitution like that in America?

Do the peoples of Europe today have any such idea in mind as they applaud, for economic purposes, the building of the Common Market?

Do the people of France or Britain, for example, intend respectively to give up their independence and sovereignty as the various states of the American Union have been forced to give these up through decisions of the country's highest court?

Or is it contemplated that each member country will continue to run its domestic affairs and will simply give up something of its sovereignty insofar as military and foreign policies are concerned?

PLAINLY, the emphasis in Europe today is on the financial and commercial advantages of a trade union which can deal singly with the United States and other countries on tariffs. But certain countries like Sweden and Switzerland are making it plain that they do not mean to go in for any "political association."

The idea of a United States of Europe has its champions in all parts of Europe, but the proposal could hardly win a majority vote in any country at this time.

In fact, reiteration of prophesies that the Common Market is merely the forerunner of another internal union like that of America means in many quarters the putting up of roadblocks to an endorsement of the common market organization invarious countries, including Great Britain.

Obviously it is better for America to deal with a single entity in trade matters than with diverse governments. That is why perhaps Mr. Kennedy is boosting unity in all its aspects. He said in his Fourth of July speech:

"We will be prepared to discuss with a united Europe the ways and means of forming a concrete Atlantic partnership, a mutually beneficial partnership between the new union now emerging in Europe and the old American union founded here 175 years ago."

REALISTICALLY, however, Gen. de Gaulle, for instance, hasn't any notion whatsoever of transferring the sovereignty of France to a political union like that which prevails in America. Nor would any French president or premier dare to advocate such a course.

External confederation is all that the majority of Europeans have in mind today. Thus, the London Times, in commenting on the Kennedy speech, emphasized the idea of an alliance and said that the President is seeking "a genuine partnership based on growing equality and shared responsibility." The editorial expressed gratitude that the United States isn't trying in any way "to crab the scheme" of a Common Market.

All Is Confusion!

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

It's been very busy in the department of knocks, boosts, double talk and utter confusion.

Overnight, Joe Moriarty, a policy racketeer, turned into one of the American banking system's biggest boosters. He has become a reminder to people going away that their money is safer in the bank.

Some workmen, remodeling a garage, found $2.4 million in the trunk of an old car which used to belong to Moriarty before he went away to a New Jersey prison for a few years.

The government, which said Moriarty owed it a fortune in taxes, grabbed the dough.

Elvis J. Stahr Jr., who just quit as secretary of the Army to become president of Indiana University, called Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara probably the best defense secretary in history.

Then he said, in effect, that McNamara has taken too much authority into his own hands.

And McNamara, who three weeks ago seemed to be saying this country would not hit Soviet cities in a nuclear war, indicated last week this is not exactly what he meant.

The Pennsylvania conference of the 50 governors couldn't reach full agreement on what ought to be done about civil rights, medical care for the aged, or the Supreme Court's ban on official prayers in public schools.

They finally agreed to be against something, which wouldn't make anybody back home mad at them: they don't want the government to cut down the size of their National Guard.

Two fellows named Ben in Algeria, which only a week ago voted for independence from France, got into a power struggle which may soak Algeria in a new wave of blood.

The two—Premier Yousef ben Khedda and Vice Premier Mohammed ben Bella — don't agree on how to run the country which means they don't agree on which should be the boss.

In one of the strangest weddings in years—a kind of shotgun marriage brought about by what they seemed to think is economic necessity — the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the AFL-CIO for once saw eye-to-eye.

They urged President Kennedy to ask Congress for a tax cut now to boost the economy fast. That's all they agreed on. They disagreed on who should get the biggest cut: the rich or the far-from-rich.

House Group Appears Cool To Cultural Exchange Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Comedian Joey Adams may have wowed them in Afghanistan but his State Department-sponsored goodwill tour last fall was a flop with a House Appropriations subcommittee.

In fact, the whole cultural exchange program under which performers are sent abroad to win friends for the United States is viewed dimly by the subcommittee, which holds the purse strings for the operation.

Testimony made public today on the State Department's request for $4.1 million to run the program through fiscal 1963—up $1.2 million from last year—contains pages of hostile questioning of department witnesses.

Rep. John J. Rooney, D-NY., tart-tongued chairman of the subcommittee, described the papers supporting the budget request as "a scenario." He concentrated most of his attack on the four-month tour of Afghanistan and Southeast Asia by Adams' troupe of 23 performers.

He produced reports from State Department posts in the areas visited by the troupe disclosing bitter feuding among the performers that led to a near fist fight in Saigon between Adams and drummer Buddy Rich.

Max Isenbergh, a deputy assistant secretary in charge of the program, acknowledged under questioning that the department received reports "the conduct of many of the troupe, including Adams, had been damaging."

Isenbergh insisted, however, the personal differences among the troupe were kept offstage and did not interfere with the audience reaction to the show, which he called "excellent."

Rooney retorted there was no way of telling what such shows accomplished, and that anyway, at a total cost of $256,000, including $1,200 a week for Adams, the price was too high.

16 Firemen Quit Akron Area Unit

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The chief and 15 of the 25 members of the volunteer fire department at Mogadore have resigned, it was reported today.

Chief Burdett Wise said he expected more resignations in the dispute with the village council in the community outside Akron. "They don't seem to give a darn if we operate or not," Wise said of the council members.

William Gougler, chairman of the village fire and safety committee, said he hopes to change Wise's mind.

Firemen indicated they had several complaints, one being the lack of parking facilities at the municipal building for men on fire calls.

Wellsville Schedules Washing Of Pavement

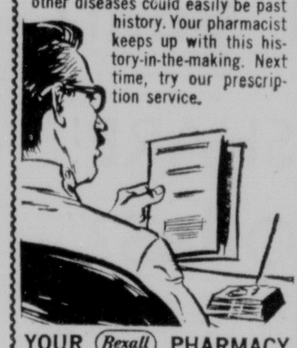

Wellsville Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare reported that Route 7, from city limit to city limit, was swept Sunday night and washing of part of the stretch is set tonight after midnight.

He said Wellsville firemen, under the direction of Chief Robert Lewis, will wash down Main St. from 3rd and Lisbon Sts. to 12th and Main Sts.

Death Scene Disclosed By Child's Call

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—"Operator, can you help me? Will you call the police for me?" asked the small voice on the telephone.

"What's the matter, honey?" asked operator Nina Shaw early Sunday.

"There's blood all over my mommy's bedroom. There's a gun laying on the bed pointing at daddy. Mommy said something to me, but now she doesn't talk any more."

Alarmed, Mrs. Shaw asked the youngster for his name and address. Then Mrs. Shaw held 6-year-old Clancy Cottman on the line while she called police headquarters.

Moments later detectives arrived at the Cottman home. Clancy and his sister, Effie, 4, were at the door to admit them.

In the bedroom the detectives found Clarence Cottman, resident manager of the Alexandria office of Eastman Dillon, Union Securities & Co., shot to death. Beside him was the unconscious body of his wife, Beatrice. A 45-caliber colt automatic from which two shots had been fired was on the bed at Cottman's feet.

The 62-year-old broker had been shot once in his right temple. He was pronounced dead on the scene. His 43-year-old wife had been wounded by a slug that pierced her left cheek and lodged in the left side of her head.

She was taken to Alexandria Hospital where she told police that she and her husband had gotten up about 4 a.m. for a cup of coffee when Cottman complained he was unable to sleep.

Mrs. Cottman said she left him downstairs, returned to the bedroom and fell asleep. "I just don't know what happened," police quoted her as saying.

4-H News

"Citizenship" was the theme of the program at a meeting of the Seneca 4-H Club Friday evening Watson Hall on Route 66, near Waterford Park.

There was Scripture reading by Justine Boyd, a reading by Margaret Cauthon, a poem by Benny Geer and prayer by Barbara Childers. Group singing was held.

It was reported that nine members plan to attend the Hancock County 4-H Camp to be held soon at Tomlinson Run State Park.

Plans were made for a swimming party and picnic supper Aug. 9 at Tomlinson Run State Park.

A brunch for their mothers was held Friday morning by the Beaver Local Belles 4-H Club at a meeting at the home of Sandra Thompson in Calcutta.

Plans were completed to attend the county health and safety contest Monday and the county demonstration contest July 23, both in Lisbon.

Plans for a float in the county 4-H parade at the County Fair next month were discussed. Linda Pugh, president, presided.

Devotions were led by Vicki Green and Vivian Palmer and demonstrations were given by Carolyn Smith and Barbara Lyons.

Labor Smear Charge Fired

CLEVELAND (AP)—The head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers told 364 delegates at the opening of the union's 14th triennial convention today that tremendous changes have been wrought in the past six years, many of them harmful to labor.

Roy E. Davidson said in remarks prepared for the convention:

"In the past six years we have seen organized labor generally become a target for probes, for investigations and smears, for Madison Avenue campaigns, for restrictions, regulations and laws.

Highlight of the convention, expected to last about five weeks, will be an address Tuesday by Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg.

As the first order of business today, the delegates adopted without opposition a resolution opposing the merger of the brotherhood with any other union. There has been some talk of the possibility of a merger of some of the unions representing the on-train employes.

567 Pounds Of Wire Removed From Truck

The theft of 567 pounds of copper waterproof wire, most of it scrap, from a parked truck was reported to police this morning by the Hoosier Engineering Co.

The wire, of varying sizes, was taken from a truck parked at the Midway Oil Co. garage on the River Rd., according to a spokesman for the firm, which has a contract with the Ohio Power Co.

Police said no breaking and entering was involved; the garage doors only slide together.

The stolen wire, which included 137 pounds of new No. 4-0 wire, does not include wire that might have been taken from other equipment stored in the building, the spokesman said.

Drivers Cited On Traveling Wrong Street

Motorists traveling through New Cumberland would do well to pay attention to signs designating routes for through traffic.

Four drivers who apparently weren't watching for instructions were cited Saturday by Police Chief William Webster in New Cumberland for driving on a street prohibited to through traffic.

They apparently were using secondary streets and alleys in attempts to proceed through the Hancock County village without the usual stopping and starting for traffic signals.

Chief Webster, 22, cited Edward Powell, 41, of Cecil, Pa., Daniel Vuic, 34, of Trafford, Pa., Guy Fuscardo, 46, of Follansbee, and Dominic Barialla, 42, of Steubenville.

Powell and Vuic each were fined $10 and costs by Police Court Judge John D. Herron, while Fuscard and Barialla posted $16 bonds for hearings tonight. The Steubenville driver also was charged with not having an operator's license.

Three others were fined Saturday by Squire Herron for failure to obey stop signs along State Route 2.

They were Mildred Solis, 33, of Pittsburgh, Arthur Noble, 65, of Munhall, and Donald Payne, 61, of Sewickley, all $10 and costs. Constable Don Dunlevy cited Payne, while the other two were cited by county sheriff's deputies.

House Group Appears Cool To Cultural Exchange Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Comedian Joey Adams may have wowed them in Afghanistan but his State Department-sponsored goodwill tour last fall was a flop with a House Appropriations subcommittee.

In fact, the whole cultural exchange program under which performers are sent abroad to win friends for the United States is viewed dimly by the subcommittee, which holds the purse strings for the operation.

Testimony made public today on the State Department's request for $4.1 million to run the program through fiscal 1963—up $1.2 million from last year—contains pages of hostile questioning of department witnesses.

Rep. John J. Rooney, D-NY., tart-tongued chairman of the subcommittee, described the papers supporting the budget request as "a scenario." He concentrated most of his attack on the four-month tour of Afghanistan and Southeast Asia by Adams' troupe of 23 performers.

He produced reports from State Department posts in the areas visited by the troupe disclosing bitter feuding among the performers that led to a near fist fight in Saigon between Adams and drummer Buddy Rich.

Max Isenbergh, a deputy assistant secretary in charge of the program, acknowledged under questioning that the department received reports "the conduct of many of the troupe, including Adams, had been damaging."

Isenbergh insisted, however, the personal differences among the troupe were kept offstage and did not interfere with the audience reaction to the show, which he called "excellent."

Rooney retorted there was no way of telling what such shows accomplished, and that anyway, at a total cost of $256,000, including $1,200 a week for Adams, the price was too high.

16 Firemen Quit Akron Area Unit

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The chief and 15 of the 25 members of the volunteer fire department at Mogadore have resigned, it was reported today.

Chief Burdett Wise said he expected more resignations in the dispute with the village council in the community outside Akron. "They don't seem to give a darn if we operate or not," Wise said of the council members.

William Gougler, chairman of the village fire and safety committee, said he hopes to change Wise's mind.

Firemen indicated they had several complaints, one being the lack of parking facilities at the municipal building for men on fire calls.

Wellsville Schedules Washing Of Pavement

Wellsville Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare reported that Route 7, from city limit to city limit, was swept Sunday night and washing of part of the stretch is set tonight after midnight.

He said Wellsville firemen, under the direction of Chief Robert Lewis, will wash down Main St. from 3rd and Lisbon Sts. to 12th and Main Sts.

Death Scene Disclosed By Child's Call

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—"Operator, can you help me? Will you call the police for me?" asked the small voice on the telephone.

"What's the matter, honey?" asked operator Nina Shaw early Sunday.

"There's blood all over my mommy's bedroom. There's a gun laying on the bed pointing at daddy. Mommy said something to me, but now she doesn't talk any more."

Alarmed, Mrs. Shaw asked the youngster for his name and address. Then Mrs. Shaw held 6-year-old Clancy Cottman on the line while she called police headquarters.

Moments later detectives arrived at the Cottman home. Clancy and his sister, Effie, 4, were at the door to admit them.

In the bedroom the detectives found Clarence Cottman, resident manager of the Alexandria office of Eastman Dillon, Union Securities & Co., shot to death. Beside him was the unconscious body of his wife, Beatrice. A 45-caliber colt automatic from which two shots had been fired was on the bed at Cottman's feet.

The 62-year-old broker had been shot once in his right temple. He was pronounced dead on the scene. His 43-year-old wife had been wounded by a slug that pierced her left cheek and lodged in the left side of her head.

She was taken to Alexandria Hospital where she told police that she and her husband had gotten up about 4 a.m. for a cup of coffee when Cottman complained he was unable to sleep.

Mrs. Cottman said she left him downstairs, returned to the bedroom and fell asleep. "I just don't know what happened," police quoted her as saying.

4-H News

"Citizenship" was the theme of the program at a meeting of the Seneca 4-H Club Friday evening Watson Hall on Route 66, near Waterford Park.

There was Scripture reading by Justine Boyd, a reading by Margaret Cauthon, a poem by Benny Geer and prayer by Barbara Childers. Group singing was held.

It was reported that nine members plan to attend the Hancock County 4-H Camp to be held soon at Tomlinson Run State Park.

Plans were made for a swimming party and picnic supper Aug. 9 at Tomlinson Run State Park.

A brunch for their mothers was held Friday morning by the Beaver Local Belles 4-H Club at a meeting at the home of Sandra Thompson in Calcutta.

Plans were completed to attend the county health and safety contest Monday and the county demonstration contest July 23, both in Lisbon.

Plans for a float in the county 4-H parade at the County Fair next month were discussed. Linda Pugh, president, presided.

Devotions were led by Vicki Green and Vivian Palmer and demonstrations were given by Carolyn Smith and Barbara Lyons.

Labor Smear Charge Fired

CLEVELAND (AP)—The head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers told 364 delegates at the opening of the union's 14th triennial convention today that tremendous changes have been wrought in the past six years, many of them harmful to labor.

Roy E. Davidson said in remarks prepared for the convention:

"In the past six years we have seen organized labor generally become a target for probes, for investigations and smears, for Madison Avenue campaigns, for restrictions, regulations and laws.

Highlight of the convention, expected to last about five weeks, will be an address Tuesday by Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg.

As the first order of business today, the delegates adopted without opposition a resolution opposing the merger of the brotherhood with any other union. There has been some talk of the possibility of a merger of some of the unions representing the on-train employes.

567 Pounds Of Wire Removed From Truck

The theft of 567 pounds of copper waterproof wire, most of it scrap, from a parked truck was reported to police this morning by the Hoosier Engineering Co.

The wire, of varying sizes, was taken from a truck parked at the Midway Oil Co. garage on the River Rd., according to a spokesman for the firm, which has a contract with the Ohio Power Co.

Police said no breaking and entering was involved; the garage doors only slide together.

The stolen wire, which included 137 pounds of new No. 4-0 wire, does not include wire that might have been taken from other equipment stored in the building, the spokesman said.

Drivers Cited On Traveling Wrong Street

Motorists traveling through New Cumberland would do well to pay attention to signs designating routes for through traffic.

Four drivers who apparently weren't watching for instructions were cited Saturday by Police Chief William Webster in New Cumberland for driving on a street prohibited to through traffic.

They apparently were using secondary streets and alleys in attempts to proceed through the Hancock County village without the usual stopping and starting for traffic signals.

Chief Webster, 22, cited Edward Powell, 41, of Cecil, Pa., Daniel Vuic, 34, of Trafford, Pa., Guy Fuscardo, 46, of Follansbee, and Dominic Barialla, 42, of Steubenville.

Powell and Vuic each were fined $10 and costs by Police Court Judge John D. Herron, while Fuscard and Barialla posted $16 bonds for hearings tonight. The Steubenville driver also was charged with not having an operator's license.

Three others were fined Saturday by Squire Herron for failure to obey stop signs along State Route 2.

They were Mildred Solis, 33, of Pittsburgh, Arthur Noble, 65, of Munhall, and Donald Payne, 61, of Sewickley, all $10 and costs. Constable Don Dunlevy cited Payne, while the other two were cited by county sheriff's deputies.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I usually go along with your advice but when it comes to teen-agers offering their bus seats to adults, I say you're all wet. I used to be one of those chivalrous suckers but I learned my lesson. I wouldn't give up my seat to a woman if she was carrying a birthday cake with 100 candles on it. Here's why:

When I was a high school junior I got on a bus to go to school. It got very crowded. A woman whose weight tripled mine was hanging on a strap right in front of me. She was having a tough time balancing herself. Every time the bus stopped she flopped into my lap or dug her spiked heels into my feet.

Finally I got up and said, "Would you care to sit down?" She hollered at the top of her voice so everyone in the bus could hear, "You fresh little punk. I'll bet I'm not 10 years older than you are. The nerve of you trying to make me out an old woman just so you can look like a hero."

With that she gave me a shove and I fell back into my seat. Everyone on the bus roared. I was so embarrassed I got off at the next stop and walked the rest of the way to school.—EX-SIR GALAHAD.

Cruel Awakening

Dear Ann: I do not agree with you that students should offer their seats to adults on buses. Do you know what it's like, trying to carry 15 pounds of books and a cello? Well I do because I did it for four years.

A few months ago I got up and gave my seat to an elderly woman who reminded me of my great-grandmother. She seemed very grateful. After a few blocks I was having trouble managing my gear so I asked the woman if she would mind holding my cello. She replied, Do the best you can with it, Girlie, I'm going to a party and I don't want my dress to get wrinkled."

That did it for me.—CURED.

Rush-Hour Shoppers

Dear Ann: I'm a college student who has taken the bus to my 9 o'clock class for three years. Whenever I'm lucky enough to get a seat I stay put, open up a book, and don't bother to look to see who is hanging from a strap. I couldn't care less.

Half the adults on the buses are women who are running downtown to shop. They seem to think they must get to the stores before the doors are opened. If they'd use their heads and stay home until the rush hour is over they would have a seat.

But no, they rush downtown during the busiest time so they can smash themselves like sardines in a can.

These same nitwits can be seen going home about 5 o'clock with big shopping bags just when the students and office workers are calling it a day.

I've had it from these bargain-hunting housewives. If they have enough strength to pound the pavement for eight hours, they can stand up in the bus both ways.—JAKE.

One Square Teen

Dear Ann: Our high school family living class (summer session) discussed your column, "Should Teen-agers Surrender Bus Seats to Adults?"

You may be interested to learn that one-third of the class (numbering 27 students) saw no reason for teen-agers to give up their seats to older people. Their thinking was: "We paid for the seats and are entitled to them."

I'm a teen-ager and I was shocked at this attitude. I think it's a clue to why so many kids are in trouble today.

Children are raised with no respect for mother, father, teacher, law or anyone. Of course the parents are to blame.

If I sat on a bus while an older person stood, and my dad and mom found out about it I'd get such a walloping I wouldn't be able to sit down any place for a week.—OLD-FASHIONED SQUARE.

Dear Square: Thank you for saving the day with your noble defense of old-fashioned manners. Chivalry is not dead, honey, it's just having a tough time breathing.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sterilization Order Brings Varied Views

CLEVELAND (AP) — Probate Court Judge Holland M. Gary of Zanesville, who ordered two feeble - minded girls sterilized, claimed Sunday he had the legal right to do so. He also urged a new state law to broaden the power.

Juvenile Court Judge Albert A. Weldman of Cleveland, however, denied there was any legal authority in Ohio for Judge Gary's order and said it was "fraught with problems."

Julian Renswick, attorney and member of the Civil Liberties Union, warned that in the absence of specific law it was possible some judge in the future might extend sterilization to other groups.

The three made their comments in a discussion of the sterilization operations which took place last March. The talk was broadcast on WJW - TV's "Cleveland Caucus."

Gary said he favors a law to prevent births among the feeble-minded "because the procedure I used was very limited — you must first find that the person is feeble-minded and then that no space is available for them in the institution before you can issue the (sterilization) order."

He said broadening the law would be a great help to those already in institutions who could have such operations and be allowed to return home. "It is an alternative to being in an institution," he said. "They can be out where they can have a fairly normal life."

But Judge Woldman disagreed, saying:

"I think there is something barbaric about mutilating a human body because you just just don't have enough institutions to care for these people. Our problem is to have proper institutions."

Experts are not certain that feeble - mindedness is hereditary, Renswick maintained, and that since some could bear normal children he was "against maiming any single individual."

Man Halts In City In Motor Scooter Jaunt To Seattle

How would you like to travel to the World's Fair at Seattle via motor scooter?

George Hecker, 35-year-old Philadelphia securities trader who passed through East Liverpool over the weekend, is trying it.

Hecker, who spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Roush and their son, Bruce, of 1820 Idaho Ave., left Philadelphia Friday and was scheduled to be in Indiana or Illinois today en route to the fair, which he expects to reach around Aug. 1.

He will visit friends, camp out or stay in motels on the way, he says. He became acquainted with the Roushes through a travelers' directory.

Hecker says he plans faster and more comfortable traveling on his return; he will sell the scooter and take a plane.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I usually go along with your advice but when it comes to teen-agers offering their bus seats to adults, I say you're all wet. I used to be one of those chivalrous suckers but I learned my lesson. I wouldn't give up my seat to a woman if she was carrying a birthday cake with 100 candles on it. Here's why:

When I was a high school junior I got on a bus to go to school. It got very crowded. A woman whose weight tripled mine was hanging on a strap right in front of me. She was having a tough time balancing herself. Every time the bus stopped she flopped into my lap or dug her spiked heels into my feet.

Finally I got up and said, "Would you care to sit down?" She hollered at the top of her voice so everyone in the bus could hear, "You fresh little punk. I'll bet I'm not 10 years older than you are. The nerve of you trying to make me out an old woman just so you can look like a hero."

With that she gave me a shove and I fell back into my seat. Everyone on the bus roared. I was so embarrassed I got off at the next stop and walked the rest of the way to school.—EX-SIR GALAHAD.

Cruel Awakening

Dear Ann: I do not agree with you that students should offer their seats to adults on buses. Do you know what it's like, trying to carry 15 pounds of books and a cello? Well I do because I did it for four years.

A few months ago I got up and gave my seat to an elderly woman who reminded me of my great-grandmother. She seemed very grateful. After a few blocks I was having trouble managing my gear so I asked the woman if she would mind holding my cello. She replied, Do the best you can with it, Girlie, I'm going to a party and I don't want my dress to get wrinkled."

That did it for me.—CURED.

Rush-Hour Shoppers

Dear Ann: I'm a college student who has taken the bus to my 9 o'clock class for three years. Whenever I'm lucky enough to get a seat I stay put, open up a book, and don't bother to look to see who is hanging from a strap. I couldn't care less.

Half the adults on the buses are women who are running downtown to shop. They seem to think they must get to the stores before the doors are opened. If they'd use their heads and stay home until the rush hour is over they would have a seat.

But no, they rush downtown during the busiest time so they can smash themselves like sardines in a can.

These same nitwits can be seen going home about 5 o'clock with big shopping bags just when the students and office workers are calling it a day.

I've had it from these bargain-hunting housewives. If they have enough strength to pound the pavement for eight hours, they can stand up in the bus both ways.—JAKE.

One Square Teen

Dear Ann: Our high school family living class (summer session) discussed your column, "Should Teen - agers Surrender Bus Seats to Adults?"

You may be interested to learn that one-third of the class (numbering 27 students) saw no reason for teen-agers to give up their seats to older people. Their thinking was: "We paid for the seats and are entitled to them."

I'm a teen-ager and I was shocked at this attitude. I think it's a clue to why so many kids are in trouble today.

Children are raised with no respect for mother, father, teacher, law or anyone. Of course the parents are to blame.

If I sat on a bus while an older person stood, and my dad and mom found out about it I'd get such a walloping I wouldn't be able to sit down any place for a week.—OLD-FASHIONED SQUARE.

-:-

Dear Square: Thank you for saving the day with your noble defense of old-fashioned manners. Chivalry is not dead, honey, it's just having a tough time breathing.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sterilization Order Brings Varied Views

CLEVELAND (AP) — Probate Court Judge Holland M. Gary of Zanesville, who ordered two feeble - minded girls sterilized, claimed Sunday he had the legal right to do so. He also urged a new state law to broaden the power.

Juvenile Court Judge Albert A. Weldman of Cleveland, however, denied there was any legal authority in Ohio for Judge Gary's order and said it was "fraught with problems."

Julian Renswick, attorney and member of the Civil Liberties Union, warned that in the absence of specific law it was possible some judge in the future might extend sterilization to other groups.

The three made their comments in a discussion of the sterilization operations which took place last March. The talk was broadcast on WJW - TV's "Cleveland Caucus."

Gary said he favors a law to prevent births among the feeble-minded "because the procedure I used was very limited — you must first find that the person is feeble-minded and then that no space is available for them in the institution before you can issue the (sterilization) order."

He said broadening the law would be a great help to those already in institutions who could have such operations and be allowed to return home. "It is an alternative to being in an institution," he said. "They can be out where they can have a fairly normal life."

But Judge Woldman disagreed, saying:

"I think there is something barbaric about mutilating a human body because you just just don't have enough institutions to care for these people. Our problem is to have proper institutions."

Experts are not certain that feeble - mindedness is hereditary, Renswick maintained, and that since some could bear normal children he was "against maiming any single individual."

Man Halts In City In Motor Scooter Jaunt To Seattle

How would you like to travel to the World's Fair at Seattle via motor scooter?

George Hecker, 35-year-old Philadelphia securities trader who passed through East Liverpool over the weekend, is trying it.

Hecker, who spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Roush and their son, Bruce, of 1820 Idaho Ave., left Philadelphia Friday and was scheduled to be in Indiana or Illinois today en route to the fair, which he expects to reach around Aug. 1.

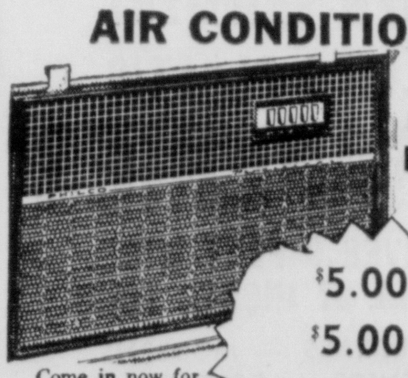

He will visit friends, camp out or stay in motels on the way, he says. He became acquainted with the Roushes through a travelers' directory.

Hecker says he plans faster and more comfortable traveling on his return; he will sell the scooter and take a plane.

Probe Slated In Rebellion At Lima State

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—It was normal again today at the Lima State Hospital for the Criminally Insane where a three-hour rebellion involving 62 patients of the institution's maximum security ward flared up Saturday night.

The disturbance arose from apparent general dissatisfaction among the patients. Five attendant-guards were held in the building at the onset of the rebellion. One was hit on the head during a struggle and another was released by the patients.

Four were locked in a room with 22 other patients in the ward and remained there until the demonstration was broken up by a Roman Catholic chaplain and security force guards.

Officials said several chairs which the patients ripped apart to use as weapons were the only things damaged. No fire - arms were discharged, but one tear gas shell was fired.

About three hours after the riot began, the Rev. Raymond Bohrer talked the patients into opening a door. He and other guards went in and, after a brief scuffle, quelled the rebellion.

Officials said only about 20 of the 62 patients in the ward apparently took an active part in the demonstration.

more than five minutes. Colors ranging from yellow to bright red mingled like a watercolor sunset.

Officials at Joint Task Force 8 headquarters viewing the blast from a hill overlooking Pearl Harbor were elated.

Twenty-five minutes after the flash was seen, the task force issued a terse announcement.

"A nuclear device carried aloft on a Thor booster was detonated at an altitude of hundreds of kilometers over Johnston Island at 11 p.m. HST—4 a.m. EST Monday. Detonation was in the megaton range."

Tourists and residents who had flocked to beaches and hillsides in vain all week appeared pleased with the show. Many stood open-mouthed, others gasped as the flash lit up the sky.

The test was designed to gauge the effects of high-altitude explosions on the earth's magnetic field and the Van Allen radiation belts. Scientists also hope to learn if such blasts could be used to jam tracking radar and thus screen sneak intercontinental missile attacks.

GOP

Senatorial Campaign Committee and a spokesman for conservatives, made it clear he wants nothing to do with the All Republican Conference. He is represented as feeling that the citizens committee is likely to siphon off funds needed by his group and others to help elect Republican candidates.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, running for re-election in New York as a liberal Republican, aimed some new licks at Goldwater and Republican Senate and House leaders Sunday in a television and radio program taped for New York stations. Javits defended the All Republican Conference and the citizens committee and said that a conference representing all segments of GOP thinking is the way "to open up our party to progressive ideas, to constructive things which have got to be done in this world."

Powell fired several blasts at Rockefeller at last week's Governors Conference in Hershey, Pa.

Among other things, Powell announced he was considering bidding for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination. To get anywhere in that effort he probably would have to get himself-relected and then challenge Rockefeller—if the latter is also re-elected—to contest with him in New Hampshire's 1964 presidential primary. Rockefeller seemed unworried at the prospect.

Probe Slated In Rebellion At Lima State

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—It was normal again today at the Lima State Hospital for the Criminally Insane where a three-hour rebellion involving 62 patients of the institution's maximum security ward flared up Saturday night.

The disturbance arose from apparent general dissatisfaction among the patients. Five attendant-guards were held in the building at the onset of the rebellion. One was hit on the head during a struggle and another was released by the patients.

Four were locked in a room with 22 other patients in the ward and remained there until the demonstration was broken up by a Roman Catholic chaplain and security force guards.

Officials said several chairs which the patients ripped apart to use as weapons were the only things damaged. No fire - arms were discharged, but one tear gas shell was fired.

About three hours after the riot began, the Rev. Raymond Bohrer talked the patients into opening a door. He and other guards went in and, after a brief scuffle, quelled the rebellion.

Officials said only about 20 of the 62 patients in the ward apparently took an active part in the demonstration.

more than five minutes. Colors ranging from yellow to bright red mingled like a watercolor sunset.

Officials at Joint Task Force 8 headquarters viewing the blast from a hill overlooking Pearl Harbor were elated.

Twenty-five minutes after the flash was seen, the task force issued a terse announcement.

"A nuclear device carried aloft on a Thor booster was detonated at an altitude of hundreds of kilometers over Johnston Island at 11 p.m. HST—4 a.m. EST Monday. Detonation was in the megaton range."

Tourists and residents who had flocked to beaches and hillsides in vain all week appeared pleased with the show. Many stood openmouthed, others gasped as the flash lit up the sky.

The test was designed to gauge the effects of high-altitude explosions on the earth's magnetic field and the Van Allen radiation belts. Scientists also hope to learn if such blasts could be used to jam tracking radar and thus screen sneak intercontinental missile attacks.

Senatorial Campaign Committee and a spokesman for conservatives, made it clear he wants nothing to do with the All Republican Conference. He is represented as feeling that the citizens committee is likely to siphon off funds needed by his group and others to help elect Republican candidates.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, running for re-election in New York as a liberal Republican, aimed some new licks at Goldwater and Republican Senate and House leaders Sunday in a television and radio program taped for New York stations. Javits defended the All Republican Conference and the citizens committee and said that a conference representing all segments of GOP thinking is the way "to open up our party to progressive ideas, to constructive things which have got to be done in this world."

Powell fired several blasts at Rockefeller at last week's Governors Conference in Hershey, Pa.

Among other things, Powell announced he was considering bidding for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination. To get anywhere in that effort he probably would have to get himself-relected and then challenge Rockefeller—if the latter is also re-elected—to contest with him in New Hampshire's 1964 presidential primary. Rockefeller seemed unworried at the prospect.

Kennedy Asks Schools For More 'Physical Ed'

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)— President Kennedy, citing "frightening statistics" showing one-fourth of the nation's school children cannot pass a simple physical fitness test, urges all schools to require children to take more exercise.

Kennedy, who made the appeal in a statement issued at his Cape Cod summer residence Sunday, reported some encouragement in surveys indicating that more boys and girls were able to pass tests in schools with organized fitness programs, and that fewer failed after a year of physical education.

"There is strong evidence," Kennedy said, "that the threat to the strength of young America can be overcome. Yet, the shocking fact remains that at least 60 per cent of our children do not participate in a daily program of vigorous physical activity. This conclusively shows how much remains to be done, and this is the critical time of the year."

The President urged that school officials' plans for fall semesters include programs "that contribute to the health and well-being of all our boys and girls."

Kennedy's statement was based on a report submitted by Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma football coach and his consultant on youth fitness.

The report by Wilkinson summarized information obtained through pilot projects in North Dakota, Missouri, Oklahoma, Georgia and Pennsylvania and samplings by government agencies and youth fitness council studies.

The Executive Committee is made up of Midland area citizens, headed by the mayor. It has planned the annual celebration since 1958, when the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. gave it up. The annual celebrations have grown each year, adding new attractions to the traditional parade and fireworks. This year's topped all others, drawing 25,000 spectators and parade participants from the Tri-State area.

The committee's budget will be on public display at the borough secretary's office at the Borough Building in about two weeks.

The next committee meeting will be early next year.

Kennedy Asks Schools For More 'Physical Ed'

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)— President Kennedy, citing "frightening statistics" showing one-fourth of the nation's school children cannot pass a simple physical fitness test, urges all schools to require children to take more exercise.

Kennedy, who made the appeal in a statement issued at his Cape Cod summer residence Sunday, reported some encouragement in surveys indicating that more boys and girls were able to pass tests in schools with organized fitness programs, and that fewer failed after a year of physical education.

"There is strong evidence," Kennedy said, "that the threat to the strength of young America can be overcome. Yet, the shocking fact remains that at least 60 per cent of our children do not participate in a daily program of vigorous physical activity. This conclusively shows how much remains to be done, and this is the critical time of the year."

The President urged that school officials' plans for fall semesters include programs "that contribute to the health and well-being of all our boys and girls."

Kennedy's statement was based on a report submitted by Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma football coach and his consultant on youth fitness.

The report by Wilkinson summarized information obtained through pilot projects in North Dakota, Missouri, Oklahoma, Georgia and Pennsylvania and samplings by government agencies and youth fitness council studies.

More Parade Prizes Given In July Fete

After what was termed a "highly successful" celebration, the Midland July 4th Executive Committee held a dinner meeting Saturday night at which it announced additional parade prize winners and voted to pay all bills.

The committee awarded $30 to the Midland Junior Women's Club for its sixth place float and $15 each to the Sweet Adelines of East Liverpool, seventh, and the Beaver County Council of Girl Scouts, eighth, all three senior floats.

Prizes of $10 were awarded to additional marching groups, including the Sons of the American Legion, Midland Squadron 481, Sara Hartman Auxiliary, Mrs. Eugene McDaniels Girls, Beaver County Council of Girl Scouts, Wellsville Civil Air Patrol and seven girl baton groups, including Ronnie Boston Sweethearts of East Liverpool, Twirlettes of New Brighton, Ann Rochelle of Midland, Lenny Spinnenweber group of Beaver Falls, Mason Hi-Steps, Teenettes and another group of Twirlettes and $20 to the Janettes, judged the best baton group.

Elks Get Prize

The committee awarded $25 to the Twin City Elks Band of Farrell and additional $2 prizes each to 13 riders of decorated bicycles Prizes for 10 other decorated bicycles were included in the committee's budget.

Awards in the budget included $100 each to the high school bands of Midland, Beaver Falls, Monaca, Ambridge, Wellsville, East Liverpool and Beaver Local and $25 each to the Queen Anne Rifles of Salem and Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9285 of Wellsville.

Awards of $10 each will be given for the marching of Cub Packs 419 of Monaca, 415 of Midland, 34 of East Liverpool and 426 of Ohioville and Midland Boy Scout Troop 415, Girl Scout Troop 267 of Ohioville and a Girl Scout Troop from Midland.

Awards Recalled

Prizes announced last Wednesday included senior float awards of $100 to the Knights of Columbus, first; $90 to American Legion Post 481, second; $80 to the Lions Club, third; $70 to the Chamber of Commerce, fourth, and $60 to the Rotary Club, fifth, all of Midland.

Junior float prizes announced were $75 to the Midland Band Boosters Club, first; $60 to the Ohioville 4-H Club, second; $45 to Industry Girl Scout Troop 238, third; $30 to Midland Girl Scout Troop 170, and $25 to Cub Pack 34 of East Liverpool, fifth.

Other bills approved by the committee included those for the professional bands of the Patterson Township Firemen, Monaca Cornet Band and Louis Krepps Band and special marching groups of the Butler C. D. of A., East Liverpool Shrine Band and the Grove City Plaidettes.

Bills Listed

Bills also included those for the drum and bugle corps participation, transportation of seven units, the Pittsburgh Rockets exhibition, drum and bugle corps competition, races for children, which amounted to $100, puppet show, fireworks, afternoon variety show, the Four Shades Combo, Sloboda Tamburitzans, printing, insurance, sound system, signs, cleanup of the athletic field, labor, telephone, supplies, theme contest prize, junior Legion baseball game and janitorial supervision.

The committee approved a motion of Joseph D'Alesio, prize chairman, giving the financial committee the authority to make a donation to American Legion Post 481's annual Halloween party for borough children. The committee's annual donation is about $60.

Plans also were discussed to incorporate the Executive Committee next year. Mayor Eli Corak, general chairman, presided. Bills were presented by Charles P. Henderson, special events chairman.

This year's parade co-chairmen were George Huha, Post 481 commander, and William Coble, past commander. Next year, Coble will drop out and William Riddle, now commander-elect, will be a co-chairman.

Donations Finance Fete

The Executive Committee is made up of Midland area citizens, headed by the mayor. It has planned the annual celebration since 1958, when the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. gave it up. Funds are raised by the contributions of various organizations and firms, including industry and labor, and by the solicitation of $1 donations from residents and all employed in Midland.

The annual celebrations have grown each year, adding new attractions to the traditional parade and fireworks. This year's topped all others, drawing 25,000 spectators and parade participants from the Tri-State area.

The committee's budget will be on public display at the borough secretary's office at the Borough Building in about two weeks.

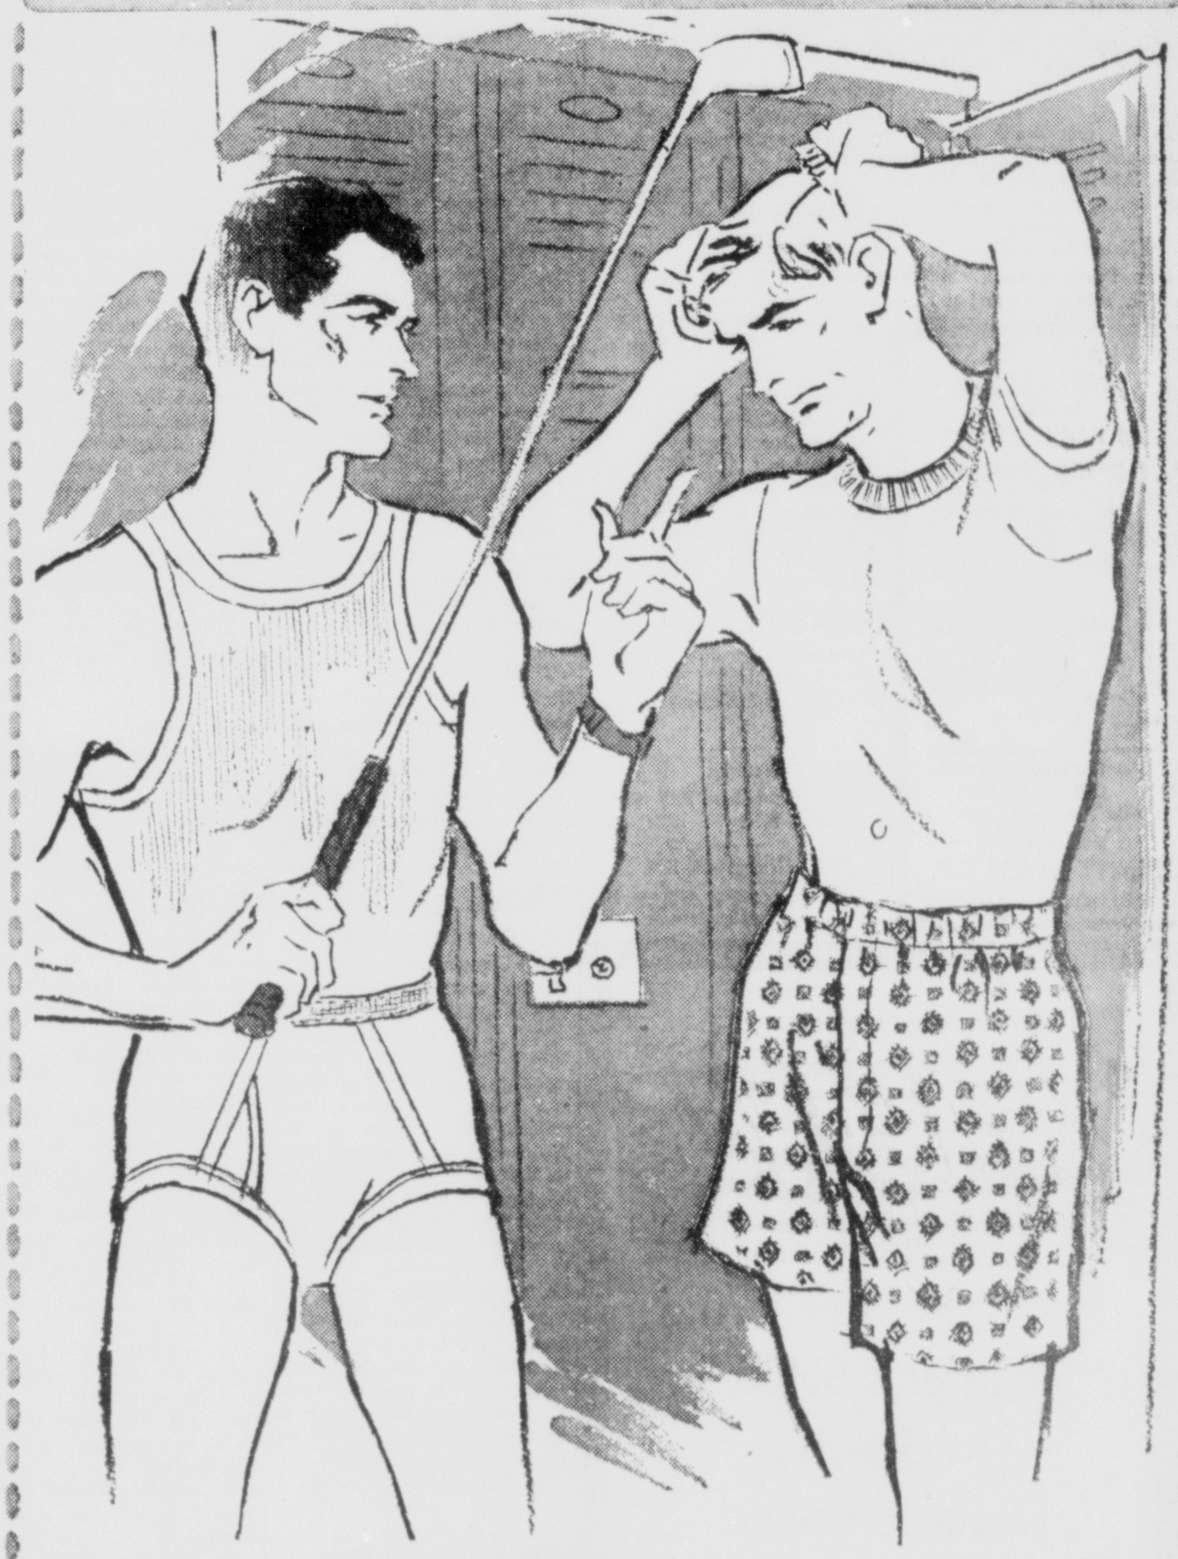

The next committee meeting will be early next year.

Budget Hearing Due

SALINEVILLE — The annual budget hearing will be held during a meeting of Salineville Council tonight at 7:30 at the Village Hall. Councilman John Beadnell will preside in the absence of Mayor Sanley Fitch, who will be unable to attend because of a work schedule conflict.

Driver Fined After Mishap

A 36-year-old Lisbon area man has been charged with driving while intoxicated as a result of a one-car mishap Sunday morning on Route 7—one of two area weekend traffic accidents.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Edward Mullen of Lisbon R. D. 5, was cited after his 1957 sedan veered from the highway about six miles south of Rogers at 3:25 a. m. and hit an embankment.

Officers said he apparently fell asleep at the wheel. He was treated for lacerations of the face and legs.

Mullen, who pleaded "no defense," was convicted this morning in Municipal Court on the informal testimony of vacationing State Highway Patrolman R. L. Reed, who termed the defendant "the most intoxicated I have seen in some time."

The father of two children kept jerking his arm away from the officer at the accident scene, the patrolman said, and a city ambulance driver refused to take him to the hospital because of the possibility he would create a disturbance.

The officer said he finally handcuffed Mullen and took him to the hospital, where he cursed nurses.

The oiler on a dragline, Mullen told Judge Chertoff the last thing he remembered was crawling into the back seat of his car. He admitted he had taken some whisky to the Lisbon American Legion, where mix is served and said he and others went from the post to a Lisbon tavern.

Fern Evans, 30, of 811 Pinetree Circle, East Palestine, was cited after her convertible hit the rear of another auto on Route 46 about two miles west of East Palestine Saturday afternoon.

The patrol said her car hit the rear of one operated by Gale May, 45, of 548 W. Main St., East Palestine, who had slowed for a car ahead making a turn. Officers charged her with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Driver Fined After Mishap

A 36-year-old Lisbon area man has been charged with driving while intoxicated as a result of a one-car mishap Sunday morning on Route 7—one of two area weekend traffic accidents.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Edward Mullen of Lisbon R. D. 5, was cited after his 1957 sedan veered from the highway about six miles south of Rogers at 3:25 a. m. and hit an embankment.

Officers said he apparently fell asleep at the wheel. He was treated for lacerations of the face and legs.

Mullen, who pleaded "no defense," was convicted this morning in Municipal Court on the informal testimony of vacationing State Highway Patrolman R. L. Reed, who termed the defendant "the most intoxicated I have seen in some time."

The father of two children kept jerking his arm away from the officer at the accident scene, the patrolman said, and a city ambulance driver refused to take him to the hospital because of the possibility he would create a disturbance.

The officer said he finally handcuffed Mullen and took him to the hospital, where he cursed nurses.

The oiler on a dragline, Mullen told Judge Chertoff the last thing he remembered was crawling into the back seat of his car. He admitted he had taken some whisky to the Lisbon American Legion, where mix is served and said he and others went from the post to a Lisbon tavern.

Fern Evans, 30, of 811 Pinetree Circle, East Palestine, was cited after her convertible hit the rear of another auto on Route 46 about two miles west of East Palestine Saturday afternoon.

The patrol said her car hit the rear of one operated by Gale May, 45, of 548 W. Main St., East Palestine, who had slowed for a car ahead making a turn. Officers charged her with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

2 Bills Eyed In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two measures at the top of President Kennedy's legislative program—foreign aid and health care—hold the attention of Congress this week.

Senate consideration of health care for the aged under Social Security could continue into next week. The House, meanwhile, will be debating a $4.7-billion foreign aid authorization measure, with final voting scheduled for Wednesday or Thursday.

The President made a strong plea for both measures at his news conference last week.

The foreign aid measure has been passed by the Senate, but in considerably different form. The money provided is substantially the same in both the Senate-passed bill and the version the House Foreign Affairs Committee reported out.

A group of House Republicans and Democrats is mounting a drive to place into the aid bill a provision that could have the effect of blocking future appropriations for the program when the federal budget is not balanced.

Sponsors of the medical measure claim enough support to get the bill through the Senate and to clamp a limitation on debate in midweek.

Biggest obstacle to the bill is in the House, where the potent Ways and Means Committee has refused to approve it and where the Rules Committee may give it even more trouble.

Roy Uses Fair For His TV Backdrop

SEATTLE — Roy Rogers rapidly is becoming the Lawrence Welk of the cowboy set. In two weeks here at the World's Fair. Roy must have sung a hundred or more songs but hasn't emptied his six-shooter more than once.

Roy Rogers- Hal Humphrey

He also pretaped his first TV show for the new ABC Dale Evans weekly hour series beginning Sept. 29, and one of the big numbers was Roy's singing of "Thank Heaven for Little Girls." It's a considerably different version than the one popularized by Maurice Chevalier. This time the girls are really little.

-:-

TWO OF ROY'S own daughters join him in the song as they stroll gaily down one of the World's Fair boulevards, and finally a whole flock of little girls follow in Roy's wake, like the kids entranced by the Pied Piper's musical flute.

"I wasn't much interested in doing an hour show," says Roy, "but Dale kinda likes show business."

Dale didn't say so, but it's possible she got tired of sending Trigger and Bullet and Pat (in the jeep Nellie Bell) out to help Roy bring in villains.

Roy has 101 of those old half-hour Roy Rogers TV shows and has sold them so many times he has lost count. CBS is re-running them this season.

-:-

"NOW THAT DALE and me are doin' another show next season, I don't know if CBS will pick up the option on the old shows," Roy says, "If they don't, then it'll be sort of like robbing Peter to pay Paul, won't it?"

Roy's contract for the new musical-variety hour on ABC next September is for only 13 weeks. It isn't that the network hasn't faith in Roy, but after having to buy out Steve Allen in midseason, nobody gets more than a 13-week contract at ABC.

Roy's pecuniary intuition probably tells him that a solid year of his old reruns is better than a 13-week maybe with a show which calls for singin' instead of shootin'.

BOB HENRY, producer of Roy's and Dale's new show, is very high on this one taped at the World's Fair. He found some cooperative Indians from the fair's Indian Village and worked them into a special number with Dodie, the Rogers' adopted Choctaw daughter.

"These aren't show-businessy Indians," says Henry. "They're very religious. Do you know, they even had a powwow over the script I gave them and made a few changes. The changes were very sensible ones, too."

In another segment of this World's Fair show, Henry has Roy and Dale entering the Gayway with its rides and Show Street with the Gracie Hansen - Barry Ashton girlie show and the Kroffts' nudie puppet extravaganza. But it's 9 o'clock in the morning when Roy and Dale make their visit, so everything is quiet and proper.

LIKE THE WELK SHOW, Roy and Dale will play things in just-folks style and with a minimum of show business sophistication.

Kathy Taylor, a 16-year-old folk singer, will be their answer to the Lennon Sisters. Charlie Weaver (Cliff Arquette) is a regular, too, but he'll have to clean up his lecherous old-man character which he made the big hit with on Jack Paar's late-night smoker.

"We'll just all do what comes natural like and hope the folks like it," says Roy, who is as homespun as Welk, Ernie Ford and Ed Sullivan any day.

Roy's and Dale's competition on CBS Saturday nights will be Jackie Gleason and his show, but, as Roy says, "He don't play to our type of audience."

OVER ON NBC, Roy faces a new series called "Sam Benedict," which is about a San Francisco lawyer, but that legal stuff isn't likely to lure many of Roy's fans either.

There's always a big audience for singing, some countryfied humor and folks who don't look or act "show businessy" and Roy and Dale are just the ones who know how to furnish all three elements. They've got a few million bucks to prove it, too.

Thief Obtains $250 In Tools

A knowing sneak thief took three boxes of tools worth $250 from the garage at an East Liverpool home Saturday night or early Sunday, the owner told police Sunday night at 9:50.

Robert Martin, 324 Blakeley St., told police the intruder entered his garage, took the ignition keys from his car and unlocked the trunk, removing the tools. The intruder also opened the glove compartment, but nothing was taken. He took the keys when he left, Martin said.

Martin said the theft took place between 9 p. m. Saturday and 9:30 a. m. Sunday. He made the report to Patrolman Charles E. (Bill) Tice last night. Martin said there are no doors on his garage, so no forcible entry was necessary.

A minor burglary and a case of vandalism also were reported to police over the weekend.

An intruder took $5 in change from a desk drawer in the office of S. & G. Distributors on Pennsylvania Ave. after forcing entry through a window on the west side of the building sometime between 1:30 p.m. Saturday and 4:01 a.m. Sunday, police said.

The burglary was discovered by Lt. W. E. McDaniel. John Faloon of Glenmoor is the manager of the beverage distributing company, officers said.

A sign valued at $169 was broken at the Walnut St. entrance to the Speedy Car Wash, 220 Broadway, police were told Sunday morning at 10:27. George Serago is the owner.

The 36-year-old Boy Scout world's speed knot-typing record has been broken by a Brookline, Mass., youth. John W. Sim, 13, shaved one-half a second off the 18-second record set by a Swiss Scout at the Second World Jamboree in Copenhagen in 1924.

Plaque Given County's VFW

A plaque for exceeding the membership quota was presented to Columbiana Veterans of Foreign Wars Council Sunday as the state convention ended at Cleveland.

The plaque was presented to Emmett (Skip) Daniels of Wellsville, county commander. A set of officers' badges also was presented to the council unit for achieving the membership record before April 30.

Daniels said the county exceeded the last year membership of 1,643 by 160 members.

Fr. Warren Braun, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church in Leetonia, was returned as chaplain. The group wound up its convention.

James Comedy of Akron, a World War II veteran, was named commander and Mrs. Robert Ladd of Toledo was elected president of the women's auxiliary.

The 42nd annual convention of the veterans' organization attracted about 1,600 delegates.

The 1963 convention will be in Cincinnati.

About 70 county VFW members attended the event which saw the Wellsville VFW Post 9285 drill team win the state championship, followed by the Salem VFW Post 892 in second place by four-tenths of a point.

The County unit will meet Wednesday night at 8 at the Wellsville Post 5647 post home.

Fined $5 In Assault

LISBON — Mrs. Ruth Rayle of S. Market St. was fined $5 and costs Saturday by Mayor Dean Stockman on a charge of assault on Sandra Wilson. In another case, Rudolph W. Marx, 64, of R. D. 1 was fined $10 and costs when he was found guilty of ignoring a stop sign. He was cited by village police.

Lower Price To Stay On Eggs, Fryers

Poultry products, especially eggs and fryers, will remain relatively low priced in the next few weeks, according to Richard Skinner, market information specialist with the Agriculture Extension Service in Canfield.

Egg prices reached what was probably the low point of the year in late May and early June when farm prices dropped to the lowest level in two years. Since then prices have increased slightly. However, eggs continue to offer a lot for your money.

Summer supply of fryers will probably increase during July and prices will probably ease a little lower despite good summer demand. At present prices, purchase of chicken items, such as legs, breasts and thighs, rate special consideration. You can expect three servings per pound from a whole fryer.

The vegetable market is changing rapidly as harvest begins for many crops. Locally grown sweet corn will soon begin to make its appearance. Volume harvest should be in another two weeks. Local green beans are on the market. Cabbage is in volume with prices about steady.

Celery prices are above last year but should drop within the next week or two. Tomato harvest in Ohio should start soon. Meanwhile tomatoes from southern states and greenhouse tomatoes have edged upward in price.

The fruit picture is getting brighter every week. Both black and red raspberries are on the market in volume. The rain last week should extend the season and improve the quality. Blueberries, known for their flavor, are in good supply. Look for a few blackberries.

Peaches will become more reasonable as the season moves northward. The local peach season will begin sometime near Aug. 1.

Cantaloupe prices are dropping as the volume increases. Quality is excellent. The watermelon season is moving northward. Look for early apples to appear within the next week or two. Other fruits on the market, but slightly higher in price, are plums, nectarines, bananas, apples and pineapples.

Rome's famous Colosseum withstood nearly 2,000 years of earthquake and plunder, but now is threatened from motor vehicles. To preserve the stone structure, Rome has restricted traffic around it and inserted steel bars into weakened walls and columns.

2 Hurt As Blast Rips Southwest Ohio Dairy

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Two persons in a car were injured Sunday when an explosion damaged Paul's Dairy in nearby Minford.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Burns, both 59, of Stockdale were hurt slightly when their car struck a boiler which had just landed in the street outside the one-story building.

Three employes in the building were not hurt.

The owner of the dairy, Paul Poole, said the explosion, which caused an estimated $30,000 damage, apparently was caused by a malfunction in the boiler. A small fire broke out following the blast but was extinguished quickly.

Ohio Strike Ends

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Four sand and gravel companies in this area were ready to resume business today following the end of a week-long strike by Teamsters Union members. Forty-six drivers and plant workers employed by the firms voted over the week-end to accept a new two-year contract providing for a 10-cents hourly raise effective next July 1 and for increased hospital and insurance benefits.

Plaque Given County's VFW

A plaque for exceeding the membership quota was presented to Columbiana Veterans of Foreign Wars Council Sunday as the state convention ended at Cleveland.

The plaque was presented to Emmett (Skip) Daniels of Wellsville, county commander. A set of officers' badges also was presented to the council unit for achieving the membership record before April 30.

Daniels said the county exceeded the last year membership of 1,643 by 160 members.

Fr. Warren Braun, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church in Leetonia, was returned as chaplain. The group wound up its convention.

James Comedy of Akron, a World War II veteran, was named commander and Mrs. Robert Ladd of Toledo was elected president of the women's auxiliary.

The 42nd annual convention of the veterans' organization attracted about 1,600 delegates.

The 1963 convention will be in Cincinnati.

About 70 county VFW members attended the event which saw the Wellsville VFW Post 9285 drill team win the state championship, followed by the Salem VFW Post 892 in second place by four-tenths of a point.

The County unit will meet Wednesday night at 8 at the Wellsville Post 5647 post home.

Fined $5 In Assault

LISBON — Mrs. Ruth Rayle of S. Market St. was fined $5 and costs Saturday by Mayor Dean Stockman on a charge of assault on Sandra Wilson. In another case, Rudolph W. Marx, 64, of R. D. 1 was fined $10 and costs when he was found guilty of ignoring a stop sign. He was cited by village police.

Lower Price To Stay On Eggs, Fryers

Poultry products, especially eggs and fryers, will remain relatively low priced in the next few weeks, according to Richard Skinner, market information specialist with the Agriculture Extension Service in Canfield.

Egg prices reached what was probably the low point of the year in late May and early June when farm prices dropped to the lowest level in two years. Since then prices have increased slightly. However, eggs continue to offer a lot for your money.

Summer supply of fryers will probably increase during July and prices will probably ease a little lower despite good summer demand. At present prices, purchase of chicken items, such as legs, breasts and thighs, rate special consideration. You can expect three servings per pound from a whole fryer.

The vegetable market is changing rapidly as harvest begins for many crops. Locally grown sweet corn will soon begin to make its appearance. Volume harvest should be in another two weeks. Local green beans are on the market. Cabbage is in volume with prices about steady.

Celery prices are above last year but should drop within the next week or two. Tomato harvest in Ohio should start soon. Meanwhile tomatoes from southern states and greenhouse tomatoes have edged upward in price.

The fruit picture is getting brighter every week. Both black and red raspberries are on the market in volume. The rain last week should extend the season and improve the quality. Blueberries, known for their flavor, are in good supply. Look for a few blackberries.

Peaches will become more reasonable as the season moves northward. The local peach season will begin sometime near Aug. 1.

Cantaloupe prices are dropping as the volume increases. Quality is excellent. The watermelon season is moving northward. Look for early apples to appear within the next week or two. Other fruits on the market, but slightly higher in price, are plums, nectarines, bananas, apples and pineapples.

Rome's famous Colosseum withstood nearly 2,000 years of earthquake and plunder, but now is threatened from motor vehicles. To preserve the stone structure, Rome has restricted traffic around it and inserted steel bars into weakened walls and columns.

2 Hurt As Blast Rips Southwest Ohio Dairy

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Two persons in a car were injured Sunday when an explosion damaged Paul's Dairy in nearby Minford.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Burns, both 59, of Stockdale were hurt slightly when their car struck a boiler which had just landed in the street outside the one-story building.

Three employes in the building were not hurt.

The owner of the dairy, Paul Poole, said the explosion, which caused an estimated $30,000 damage, apparently was caused by a malfunction in the boiler. A small fire broke out following the blast but was extinguished quickly.

Ohio Strike Ends

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Four sand and gravel companies in this area were ready to resume business today following the end of a week-long strike by Teamsters Union members. Forty-six drivers and plant workers employed by the firms voted over the week-end to accept a new two-year contract providing for a 10-cents hourly raise effective next July 1 and for increased hospital and insurance benefits.

Coconut Reviver

DEAR HELOISE:

Here's a hint I find wonderful. When coconut or brown sugar has dried out and is past using, I take a piece of paper towel, dampen it, squeeze it out and fold it. This can be scotch taped to the lid of a glass jar. Put your sugar or coconut into the jar, put the lid on tight and leave overnight. It's as fresh as ever.

Linen Rotation

DEAR HELOISE:

When I wash bed linens, I fold the linens and put them on top of the stacks of full or twin sheets. Then I take clean sheets from the bottom of the pile so that all are used in rotation and any mending can be done at once.

Towels I use the same way. I always fold bath towels with matching hand towels and washcloth inside each other. Place each pack at the top of the pile . . .and take clean ones from the bottom. Quite simple. No looking for matched towels and wash cloths when you are in a hurry.

Wallpaper Trick

DEAR HELOISE:

I want to add an important note for those who want to know the tricks of patching wallpaper. My grandfather, who was a paper hanger, taught me this: When tearing your paper to patch, always tear toward the wrong side of the paper. It makes the patch almost invisible.

This is especially wonderful if you have not been able to match your flowers quite well enough when hanging the paper. Just tear out a flower or design to the wrong side of the paper and apply over the design along the seams. It will be hardly noticeable.

Care Of Ill Nears Crisis In Strike By Physicians

EDITOR'S NOTE — AP correspondent Max Harrelson, a veteran in Canadian affairs, surveyed Saskatchewan before the medical plan went into effect. Back in the prairie province, he has been making another survey since it went into operation.

REGINA, Sask. (AP)—The big question in Saskatchewan's battle is not how much medical care the people are getting but how long this care can be maintained.

With the doctors' strike now in its ninth day, essential service still is being provided by volunteer physicians, temporary replacements from abroad and nonstrikers. There is even a substantial amount of bootlegging by doctors supposedly on strike.

Obviously medical care in the province is not anything like normal, but doctors and government officials agree there has been no serious breakdown. There have been two or three deaths, which some individuals have blamed on the deadlock. The doctors vigorously deny this.

Dr. Neville Smith, Regina spokesman for the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons, acknowledges there has been some damage to health. He is especially concerned with what may happen if the present situation continues indefinitely.

Premier Woodrow Lloyd, chief backer of the controversial compulsory medical care plan, says the province's health needs so far are being reasonably well looked after. But he also is concerned about the future.

The key question is whether the staff of 200 volunteer doctors, who are giving free emergency service in 34 designated hospitals, can be maintained indefinitely. Since the strike began July 1, the number already has shrunk by about 30.

In addition to the doctors serving in the emergency centers, there are about 40 doctors practicing under the Medical Care act, according to government officials, and another 80 practicing outside the act. This means that approximately 320 doctors—or almost half the province's 700 practicing physicians—are actually on duty. At this time of year about one-third of the doctors normally are on vacation.

Some 60 of Saskatchewan's 147 hospitals have no doctors, but these are all small and nurses are on duty to refer emergency cases to one of the operating centers. The nurses themselves are available for first-aid cases.

The province has a fleet of six government - owned air ambulances available for flying patients to emergency centers. Last week the air ambulances flew some 20 missions, which was about normal.

One unsolved problem is what to do about the large number of ill who do not qualify for emergency treatment. This includes the chronically ill and others who have ailments which normally would receive routine medical attention. Many types of prescriptions cannot be filled without a doctor's authorization.

Tour Termed Success

Goodman Played It Cool For Soviet Concert Trip

MOSCOW (AP) — Benny Goodman says he is satisfied his six-week jazz tour of the Soviet Union was a success—despite some grumbling among members of his band that he played it too cool.

America's "King of Swing" dropped a hint why he kept the swinging in low gear. Soviet authorities were afraid he'd turn young Russians into real cats who might get out of control.

"They had read about riots caused by rock 'n roll and I don't think they wanted any of that," Goodman said. "Strangely enough I was in accord with the Russians. That was the last thing I wanted. I wanted applause from the audience—that was all I wanted."

Speaking at a farewell luncheon for Western correspondents, Goodman disclosed that both American and Soviet authorities had been apprehensive about the tour which was bank-rolled by the U.S. government as a goodwill gesture.

The tour struck a snag that delayed Sunday night's final concert 20 minutes when members of the band demanded to be paid off before going on. There was no explanation for the delay in handing out the paychecks.

Negro trumpeter Joe Wilder of New York sat out the concert in protest against a deduction in his salary for what Goodman aides said was excess baggage he took along with him to Moscow.

But a sell-out crowd turned out at Lenin Sports Palace for the windup and called the band back for 20 minutes of encores.

The tour brought live American jazz to Moscow, Sochi, Tiflis, Kiev, Leningrad and far-away Tashkent.

An estimated 180,000 persons heard the band and most of them applauded enthusiastically. There were exceptions, but many of these were older people or Communist party members who deliberately sat on their hands.

The applause would have been even greater if the band had not suffered from a certain amount of internal dissension. Goodman preferred older tunes, while the band wanted hot, modern stuff.

Still, everyone connected with the tour considered it a successful contribution to the improvement of Soviet-American relations.

The U.S. Embassy also indicated it was satisfied with the tour. The embassy's cultural officer, Eugene Staples, said, "The success of the tour has amply justified the choice of Mr. Goodman."

One fighter in a Thailand boxing match was billed "Bright star of Petch Chingchai camp, who loves to march in and bangs it away from gong to homestretch." His opponent was called "Blast-up star of Wongdeves camp, the good produce of the cauliflower industry of Bangkok."

Mass Marks Rally

CLEVELAND (AP) — A solemn pontifical Mass was held Sunday for the Knights of St. John, which is holding its 53rd international convention here. The 1,500-seat St. John Cathedral was filled to capacity.

Small Repairs Can Prevent Larger Ones At Later Date

Everyone knows that the moment the last nail is driven into a new house and the builder announces that it is finished, the task of proper maintenance and repair begins for the owner.

Contrary to general belief, a new house needs a lot more attention for the first year or two than it will require 10 years later. Lumber is in the process of shrinking, floors are settling down, plaster is drying and concrete is giving off moisture.

All of this shaking down process means change in the structure, and the sooner it is attended to the better. The small repair, so often hardly worth doing anything about to the average man, may result in a defect several months later which will involve considerable cost.

Among the things which are characteristic of defects in a new house is the crack in concrete or cement work. These should be filled immediately because if left open and weather gets in, they will grow larger and larger until the slab, step or patio disintegrates.

Iron work which shows rust before the rust creeps along and finally settles in and eats out a railing, an outside light or a metal bracket.

Putty cracks and falls out of the sash, allowing rain to enter the window assembly and set up rot. Windows start to check as they dry out and should be painted at once to fill all crevices and protect the unit.

Roof shingles split or curl. And while a curled shingle is nothing to become excited about, they should be watched. And if the defect becomes more noticeable, they should be renailed or cemented down with roof cement.

There are actually scores of places around a house which usually need some attention. If they receive it promptly, much future trouble can be avoided.

New Park Planned

OHIOPYLE — Forests and Waters Secretary Maurice K. Goddard announced Saturday the Pennsylvania State Department of Forests and Waters intends to create a regional state park on land in and around the Youghiogheny Gorge at Ohiopyle.

WHEN NEIGHBORING HOUSES are too close for comfort, a baffle screen like this gives each privacy. Two offset screens are designed in a board-on-board pattern with decorative crown that acts as a trellis for climbers.

Summer Cooling Achieved With Water In Varied Ways

Ranch house, Cape Cod, split-level, with or without a basement — whatever your preference in architecture, water is an ideal medium for cooling as well as heating.

Most popular are separate systems for these functions, although they can be combined.

In the winter, water heated by a boiler is mechanically circulated through the piping system by a small electric pump to special baseboards, panels of piping in the floor, walls or ceiling, or to convectors or radiators. The compact and stylish boiler can be located in the basement, utility room, kitchen or garage, the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau advises.

In the summer, water is cooled by a water chiller (which also can be located almost anywhere) and pumped to fan-coil units installed in the space provided by a dropped ceiling in a hallway. This space acts as a distributing chamber for the cooled air, and no sheet metal ducts are needed.

Combination units may be used for the distribution of both the cooled air in summer and heated air in winter. The same piping is used for both functions and a quiet fan in each room unit circulates the conditioned air.

If cooling is in your home building or modernization plans, a plumbing - heating contractor can be your best friend. Depending on your home's layout, he can recommend the best and most economical ways for you to enjoy year-round comfort in your home.

CD Reports Shelters Ready For 50 Million

NEW YORK (AP)—A civil defense official says the nation has sufficient space to shelter from 50 to 60 million persons from nuclear fallout.

William P. Durkee, director for federal assistance of the Office of Civil Defense, said his department hopes to have 235 million shelter spaces in homes, schools, transit facilities and at places of employment by 1967.

Baffle Screen Serves Need

PORTLAND, Ore. — Friendliness with one's neighbors is a fine thing, but when you pay unintentional visits to them via the windows because your houses are built too closely together, that's carrying a good thing too far.

Lots of home owners find themselves in this predicament. But what do you do about it? If you hang heavy curtains at the windows, you might as well not have windows. If you put in a big hedge, you'll have to keep it clipped.

A good solution to the problem is to have a confab with the folks next door and then each erect a baffle screen, one in your yard and one in theirs. The baffles will be built three feet or more apart, but ends will overlap.

Each baffle will be half the length of the house on the side where the baffles are to be placed. The length also could be extended to provide some screening for the back yard or to block an uncomplimentary view of the neighboring house from the back yard.

A board - on - board pattern is ideal for the baffles and it is easy to build. Set the fence posts, which should be 4-by-4 in size, then attach top and bottom rails using 2-by-4's. For the pattern, nail 1-by-4s vertically to the rails, but nail alternating boards on opposite sides of the baffle and overlap their ends one inch.

When all 1-by-4s are in place, add a 2-by-6 cap board to give it a finished appearance. If you like, add a crown above the cap board and use it as a trellis for a flowering vine.

It's important to make the baffles a part of the garden, and it's easily done by banking shrubs or flowers against the screens. Put your "show" plants here because the baffles will form the perfect backdrop to set them off.

Choose a wood with good outdoor performance for the baffles.

The completion of Glen Canyon Dam in 1966 will transform the southeast corner of Utah. Huge Lake Powell will enable tourists to reach a scenic wonderland, long inaccessible by car. In the area, which has been proposed as a national park, are canyons, arches and the spectacular Needles — a region of towering pinnacles.

Ideas Offered For Installing Roller Shade

Although venetian blinds are growing in popularity, there are still many houses equipped with roller shades. As a matter of fact many people prefer the rollers because they require far less cleaning and are not dust-catching as the venetians.

Installing new shades often presents a problem, because there is not much room to play with as far as measurements go. And when the shade roller is a fraction of an inch too long or too short, trouble looms in the offing. This generally happens when the home owner has taken advantage of a special sale and orders the shades by mail, figuring that all the windows are exactly the same in width. In older houses they usually are not.

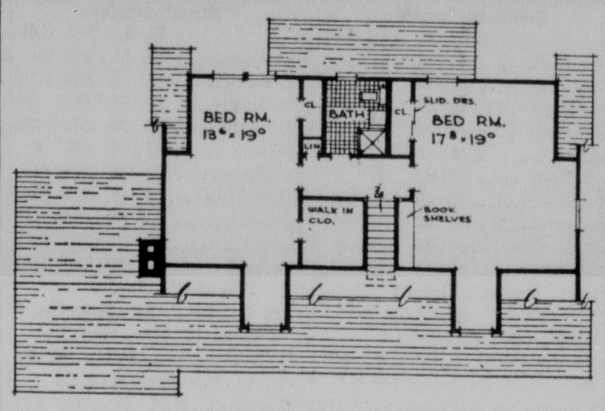

There are two ways of approaching any fitting job, and they both apply to the shades. If the item to be fitted into a space is too long, it can be corrected by reducing the length of the item or increasing the width of the space into which it is to fit.

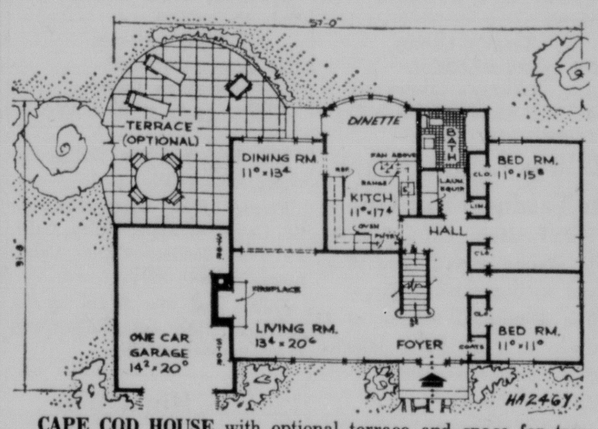

Therefore, if the roller is too long, it can be cut off; if that is impossible, the trim inside the window casing can be cut out and the bearing for the roller set back into the recess. If the roller is too short, a small block or shim can be tacked to the trim. These are both simple corrections and not at all difficult to accomplish.

One more thing about window shades: Many people have trouble with shades which seem to have lost the strength to roll up properly. This is immediately cured by pulling the shade down about three-quarters of the way, then removing the roller from the hangers and rolling the shade up by hand before setting it back in the hangers. This restores full strength to the roller spring.

U. S. newspapers use more than seven million tons of newsprint annually.

CAPE COD HOUSE with optional terrace and space for two rooms and bath in the attic can be enlarged to fit the needs of a growing family. Square footage of Homes for Americans Plan HA246Y is 1,266 square feet on the first floor, second floor, 857. A huge entrance foyer leads to all major areas of the house and the large kitchen includes a separate dinette. The home was designed by Herman H. York 90-04 161 St., Jamaica 32, N. Y.

Patio Provides Outdoor Room

It costs little to build and pays dividends in the form of an added "outdoor" room.

To begin with, consider the patio as part of the over - all layout of the house and afford it the same attention as you would a new room, say designers of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co. It should appear as a planned part of the home and not as a thoughtless extra.

When possible, build the patio on the south or southeast part of the house to get the most breeze in summer.

Shield it from neighboring property with trees, shrubs, privacy fences or wings of the house itself and take advantage of the colorful plantings from both indoors and out by joining the house to the patio with floor-to-ceiling insulating glass.

Since a patio is primarily intended to increase living enjoyment, keep its "efficiency rating" high to avoid making it an area which requires constant maintenance.

The mound builders, a family of birds in Australia, are hatched fully feathered. They fly and live an independent life from the moment they emerge from their eggshells.

Tips Are Offered On Placing Tile

Question: We would like to know whether we can lay floor tile over the top of the rubber tile on our kitchen floor.

The old tile is about eight or 10 years old, but is in excellent condition. There are no broken or cracked or loose tiles.

Our only reason for making the change is that we want to have a different color scheme in the kitchen. We plan to use vinyl asbestos tile.

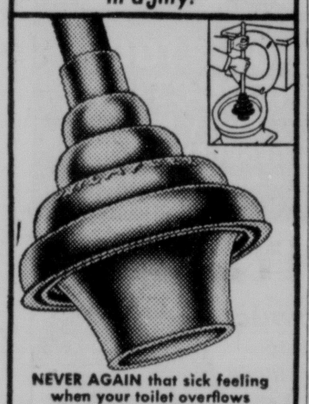

Answer: Since the old tiles are in such excellent condition and so firmly attached to the underfloor, there is no reason why you can't put the new ones over them.

It is very important that the old tiles be free of wax before putting on the adhesive. Your tile dealer has a cleaning ingredient which emulsifies dirt, wax and grease. You should use it even if the old floor appears to be clean.

Be sure to tell your dealer that you will be putting the tiles over old ones so that he can give you the proper type of adhesive for this kind of installation.

Ideas Offered For Installing Roller Shade

Although venetian blinds are growing in popularity, there are still many houses equipped with roller shades. As a matter of fact many people prefer the rollers because they require far less cleaning and are not dust-catching as the venetians.

Installing new shades often presents a problem, because there is not much room to play with as far as measurements go. And when the shade roller is a fraction of an inch too long or too short, trouble looms in the offing. This generally happens when the home owner has taken advantage of a special sale and orders the shades by mail, figuring that all the windows are exactly the same in width. In older houses they usually are not.

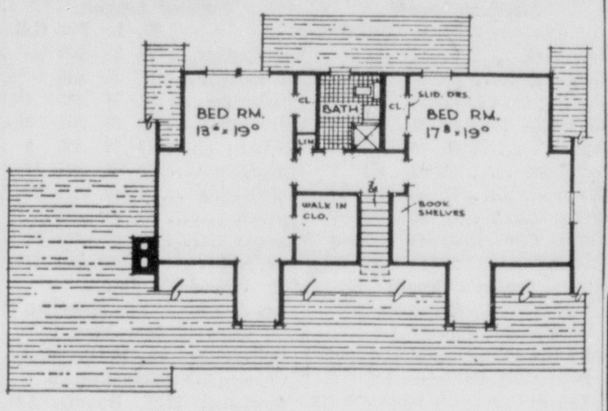

There are two ways of approaching any fitting job, and they both apply to the shades. If the item to be fitted into a space is too long, it can be corrected by reducing the length of the item or increasing the width of the space into which it is to fit.

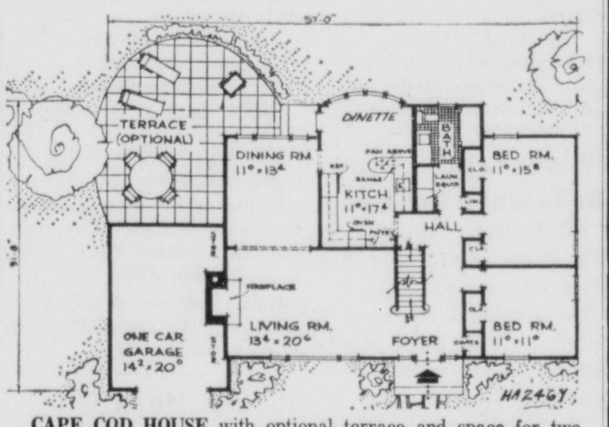

Therefore, if the roller is too long, it can be cut off; if that is impossible, the trim inside the window casing can be cut out and the bearing for the roller set back into the recess. If the roller is too short, a small block or shim can be tacked to the trim. These are both simple corrections and not at all difficult to accomplish.

One more thing about window shades: Many people have trouble with shades which seem to have lost the strength to roll up properly. This is immediately cured by pulling the shade down about three-quarters of the way, then removing the roller from the hangers and rolling the shade up by hand before setting it back in the hangers. This restores full strength to the roller spring.

U. S. newspapers use more than seven million tons of newsprint annually.

CAPE COD HOUSE with optional terrace and space for two rooms and bath in the attic can be enlarged to fit the needs of a growing family. Square footage of Homes for Americans Plan HA246Y is 1,266 square feet on the first floor, second floor, 857. A huge entrance foyer leads to all major areas of the house and the large kitchen includes a separate dinette. The home was designed by Herman H. York 90-04 161 St., Jamaica 32, N. Y.

Patio Provides Outdoor Room

Dollar for dollar, a patio is a sound investment in summer-time living enjoyment for the whole family.

It costs little to build and pays dividends in the form of an added "outdoor" room.

To begin with, consider the patio as part of the over - all layout of the house and afford it the same attention as you would a new room, say designers of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co. It should appear as a planned part of the home and not as a thoughtless extra.

When possible, build the patio on the south or southeast part of the house to get the most breeze in summer.

Shield it from neighboring property with trees, shrubs, privacy fences or wings of the house itself and take advantage of the colorful plantings from both indoors and out by joining the house to the patio with floor-to-ceiling insulating glass.

Since a patio is primarily intended to increase living enjoyment, keep its "efficiency rating" high to avoid making it an area which requires constant maintenance.

The mound builders, a family of birds in Australia, are hatched fully feathered. They fly and live an independent life from the moment they emerge from their eggshells.

Tips Are Offered On Placing Tile

Question: We would like to know whether we can lay floor tile over the top of the rubber tile on our kitchen floor.

The old tile is about eight or 10 years old, but is in excellent condition. There are no broken or cracked or loose tiles.

Our only reason for making the change is that we want to have a different color scheme in the kitchen. We plan to use vinyl asbestos tile.

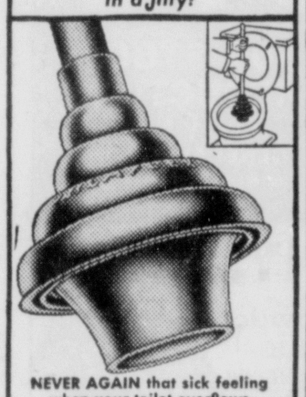

Answer: Since the old tiles are in such excellent condition and so firmly attached to the underfloor, there is no reason why you can't put the new ones over them.

It is very important that the old tiles be free of wax before putting on the adhesive. Your tile dealer has a cleaning ingredient which emulsifies dirt, wax and grease. You should use it even if the old floor appears to be clean.

Be sure to tell your dealer that you will be putting the tiles over old ones so that he can give you the proper type of adhesive for this kind of installation.

Bunning, Drysdale Expected To Start All-Star Battle

45,000 Due To See Game On Tuesday

By JOE REICHLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Right-handed aces Jim Bunning of Detroit and Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers were expected to be named starting pitchers today in Tuesday's All-Star game, the first of two midsummer meetings between the best players of the American and National leagues.

A capacity crowd of 45,015 was assured for this 32nd interleague spectacle, the third in Washington, the second here in six years and the first in the new $22-million D.C. Stadium. The game, starting at 12 noon (EST) will be broadcast and telecast by NBC.

The second game, which probably will mark the last of the two-game system begun in 1959, will be played in Chicago's Wrigley Field, Monday, July 30. The American League holds an overall 16 to 14 edge, but the Nationals have won four and tied one of the last six.

The oddsmakers, who originally had tabbed the National League a slight favorite, were now making it an even game probably because of the older circuit's loss of Henry Aaron. An ankle injury suffered last Friday forced the Milwaukee slugger off the squad.

NL Manager Fred Hutchinson picked Warren Spahn, the Braves' brilliant southpaw, to fill the void, thus giving him eight pitchers, the same number selected by Al Manager Ralph Houk. Spahn, 41, has appeared in seven previous All-Star games.

The loss of Aaron notwithstanding, the Nationals boasted an awesome hitting array led by Willie Mays, the league's home run leader; Tommy Davis, its batting and runs batted in champ, Orlando Cepeda, Roberto Clemente and Ken Boyer.

The American League's star-studded lineup is not without power hitters of its own. In the starting lineup will be the New York Yankees' M and M boys, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, who who have hit 19 home runs between them in the last 15 games; Leon Wagner of the Angels, tied with Mays for the homer leadership of the majors, and slugger Jim Gentile of Baltimore.

A right-handed opening duel between Bunning and Drysdale would pit two pitchers who starred in past All-Star games.

The addition of Spahn, who won his eighth game of the season Sunday against 10 defeats, gives the Nationals a second left hander. The other is Sandy Koufax, who pitched the Dodgers to a 2-0 triumph over the Giants Sunday for his 13th victory against four defeats.

Drysdale, the majors' biggest winner with 15, cemented Koufax' shutout, retiring the last two Giants in relief.

Eight of the 16 All-Star pitchers worked Sunday. Beside Spahn, Koufax and Drysdale, other National Leaguers who pitched Sunday were Bob Gibson (10-6) of St. Louis and Dick Farrell (5-8) of Houston, and American Leaguers Bill Monbouquette (8-8) of Boston, Hank Aguirre (7-3) of Detroit and Hoyt Wilhelm (3-6), Baltimore.

British Open Under Way; Palmer Is 2-1 Favorite

By TOM REEDY

TROON, Scotland (AP) — The world's greatest swingers took on Scotland's nasty "little giant"—Old Troon—today in a week-long quest for the British Open golf championship.

A total of 356 players from a score of countries teed off on Old Troon and its neighboring links, Loch Green, in two days of 36-hole qualifying for the championship proper.

Even the most confident professional and top ranking amateur admitted he was only chasing after mighty Arnold Palmer, of Latrobe, Pa., who is defending the title he won at Birkdale in England last year.

Gamblers made the American master 2-1, the shortest price ever offered before a British Open, even in the days of Walter Hagen, Bobby Jones and Ben Hogan.

Behind Palmer, the oddsmakers listed Jack Nicklaus, U.S. Open champ; Gary Player of South Africa; Peter Thomson and Kel Nagle of Australia; Gene Littler, the 1961 American Open king; and as an outsider, British Ryder Cup captain Dai Rees.

Dried out by drought and scorching wind, the Troon links baffled most of the stars in their tune-up rounds.

Sam Snead cracked around once in a 66, but conceded he'd never match that again. Just turned 50 last May, Snead's chances in this endurance contest were calculated at no better than 7-1 and that was largely sentimental support.

Troon was lengthened by 500 yards to 7,045, par 72, for this championship, but none of the power hitters was concerned over that. What bothered them all was the bone-dry terrain.

After 18 holes Wednesday and another round on Thursday the finalists are reduced to the low 50 for the 36-hole tour Friday. Prize money totals $23,800. First prize of $3,920 is scant by American standards, but the pros will tell you this is one they really want for the prestige alone.

7-7 Team Up For 'Double'

Speedsters Plena and Skidmore combined for a 7-7 daily double pairing and a payoff of $55.60 in racing Saturday before 5,463 fans at Waterford Park.

Jockey Jose Olivares got Plena away quickly in the first race and maneuvered him home in front to pay $21.80, $13.40 and $7.40. Plena was timed at 1:01 and 1-5 over a fast track.

Skidmore won by four and a half lengths in winning the second race to pay $4, $3 and $2.80.

Winning the featured eighth race was Sun Event, the favorite, who returned $3.80 and $2.20. There was no show wagering with the field comprised of only five horses.

In the daily double betting, there were 430 tickets of the $2 denomination sold on the 7-7 pairing, and 24 of the $10 variety.

2 Win First Loop Games

With Morrison driving in the deciding run in the last of the seventh inning, Klondyke edged the Mets 22 by 2-1 in the Slow Pitch League Sunday at Thompson Park.

In a second game, when the pitchers were more liberal, Dresden A. C. won its first game over East End, 14-9.

Dick Potts pitched Klondyke to the narrow victory. Tice starred for Klondyke with two hits.

Russell was the winning pitcher in Dresden's win over East End. Fisher homered in going two-for-three and Russell had a triple for the winners.

For East End, John Douglas and Frank Lacey each went three-for-three.

League officials have asked all squads slated for second games in the evening to report to the field earlier than in the past. If the players of the second game are all present, the game may begin immediately upon conclusion of the first contest, the officials pointed out. Players are to report by 7 when slated for second games.

Merchants Pound Ball In 14-7 Victory

Collecting 16 hits off four opposing pitchers, the East Liverpool Merchants rolled to a 14-7 victory over Columbiana in the County-City baseball league Sunday afternoon at Columbiana.

Manager John Andrason's nine went to work early to build up a commanding lead by the end of four innings and breezed to the win behind Ed Six's pitching.

Six worked nine innings for the locals, defeating Columbiana on a seven-hitter and fanning 12 batters. Habeger was the loser. Columbiana also used three other pitchers.

Prentice and Murowski each banged out three hits for the winners. With several major league scouts looking on, the Merchants' Rich Ashcroft collected two hits in five trips, including a home run. Teammate Shanks also homered, as did McCure of Columbiana.

In another game, Negley whipped Lisbon easily, 20-2.

East Liverpool's next game will be Wednesday at Negley. Columbiana will be at East Palestine the same day.

Baseball Players Eye Shorter 1963 Season

WASHINGTON (AP)—The major leagues may cut down to a 153-game schedule in 1963 if the baseball players have their way.

Player representatives of the 20 major league clubs meet today to discuss methods of easing the schedule. Many favor cutting it from 162 to 153 games.

The players also will ask the owners to avoid scheduling night games on the last day of a series. This practice has resulted in many clubs travelling all night and arriving in the early morning hours with a game scheduled the same night.

After the players have drawn up their recommendations Judge Robert Cannon, their counsel, will pass them on to the owners. However, the owners do not hold their annual meeting until December, so no immediate decision is to be expected.

Collins Lauds Doctor In Taking Flint Open

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—A happy Bill Collins wasn't complaining about his doctor bills today.

The 33-year-old veteran of 11 seasons as a pro golfer pocketed $9,000 first prize money in the Flint Open Sunday.

"A lot of the credit has to go to a chiropractor who treated me all week for a real bad back," the big Miami, Fla., ex-Marine said.

Collins, who won his first tournament since the Houston Classic in 1960, held off a late challenge from a fellow Floridian Dave Ragna, who started and ended the day a stroke behind Collins.

They both had 72's, Collins finishing with a 284.

Former Flint Open champion Bill Casper of Appel Valley, Calif. and Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., wound up with 286's.

Bunning, Drysdale Expected To Start All-Star Battle

45,000 Due To See Game On Tuesday

By JOE REICHLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Right-handed aces Jim Bunning of Detroit and Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers were expected to be named starting pitchers today in Tuesday's All-Star game, the first of two midsummer meetings between the best players of the American and National leagues.

A capacity crowd of 45,015 was assured for this 32nd interleague spectacle, the third in Washington, the second here in six years and the first in the new $22-million D.C. Stadium. The game, starting at 12 noon (EST) will be broadcast and telecast by NBC.

The second game, which probably will mark the last of the two-game system begun in 1959, will be played in Chicago's Wrigley Field, Monday, July 30. The American League holds an overall 16 to 14 edge, but the Nationals have won four and tied one of the last six.

The oddsmakers, who originally had tabbed the National League a slight favorite, were now making it an even game probably because of the older circuit's loss of Henry Aaron. An ankle injury suffered last Friday forced the Milwaukee slugger off the squad.

NL Manager Fred Hutchinson picked Warren Spahn, the Braves' brilliant southpaw, to fill the void, thus giving him eight pitchers, the same number selected by Al Manager Ralph Houk. Spahn, 41, has appeared in seven previous All-Star games.

The loss of Aaron notwithstanding, the Nationals boasted an awesome hitting array led by Willie Mays, the league's home run leader; Tommy Davis, its batting and runs batted in champ, Orlando Cepeda, Roberto Clemente and Ken Boyer.

The American League's star-studded lineup is not without power hitters of its own. In the starting lineup will be the New York Yankees' M and M boys, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, who who have hit 19 home runs between them in the last 15 games; Leon Wagner of the Angels, tied with Mays for the homer leadership of the majors, and slugger Jim Gentile of Baltimore.

A right-handed opening duel between Bunning and Drysdale would pit two pitchers who starred in past All-Star games.

The addition of Spahn, who won his eighth game of the season Sunday against 10 defeats, gives the Nationals a second left hander. The other is Sandy Koufax, who pitched the Dodgers to a 2-0 triumph over the Giants Sunday for his 13th victory against four defeats.

Drysdale, the majors' biggest winner with 15, cemented Koufax' shutout, retiring the last two Giants in relief.

Eight of the 16 All-Star pitchers worked Sunday. Beside Spahn, Koufax and Drysdale, other National Leaguers who pitched Sunday were Bob Gibson (10-6) of St. Louis and Dick Farrell (5-8) of Houston, and American Leaguers Bill Monbouquette (8-8) of Boston, Hank Aguirre (7-3) of Detroit and Hoyt Wilhelm (3-6), Baltimore.

Merchants Pound Ball In 14-7 Victory

Collecting 16 hits off four opposing pitchers, the East Liverpool Merchants rolled to a 14-7 victory over Columbiana in the County-City baseball league Sunday afternoon at Columbiana.

Manager John Andrason's nine went to work early to build up a commanding lead by the end of four innings and breezed to the win behind Ed Six's pitching.

Six worked nine innings for the locals, defeating Columbiana on a seven-hitter and fanning 12 batters. Habeger was the loser. Columbiana also used three other pitchers.

Prentice and Murowski each banged out three hits for the winners. With several major league scouts looking on, the Merchants' Rich Ashcroft collected two hits in five trips, including a home run. Teammate Shanks also homered, as did McCure of Columbiana.

In another game, Negley whipped Lisbon easily, 20-2.

East Liverpool's next game will be Wednesday at Negley. Columbiana will be at East Palestine the same day.

Collins Lauds Doctor In Taking Flint Open

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—A happy Bill Collins wasn't complaining about his doctor bills today.

The 33-year-old veteran of 11 seasons as a pro golfer pocketed $9,000 first prize money in the Flint Open Sunday.

"A lot of the credit has to go to a chiropractor who treated me all week for a real bad back," the big Miami, Fla., ex-Marine said.

Collins, who won his first tournament since the Houston Classic in 1960, held off a late challenge from a fellow Floridian Dave Ragna, who started and ended the day a stroke behind Collins.

They both had 72's, Collins finishing with a 284.

Former Flint Open champion Bill Casper of Appel Valley, Calif. and Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., wound up with 286's.

Collins had won $8,435 on the pro circuit this year. Ragan won $4,000 for second place.

British Open Under Way; Palmer Is 2-1 Favorite

By TOM REEDY

TROON, Scotland (AP) — The world's greatest swingers took on Scotland's nasty "little giant"—Old Troon—today in a week-long quest for the British Open golf championship.

A total of 356 players from a score of countries teed off on Old Troon and its neighboring links, Loch Green, in two days of 36-hole qualifying for the championship proper.

Even the most confident professional and top ranking amateur admitted he was only chasing after mighty Arnold Palmer, of Latrobe, Pa., who is defending the title he won at Birkdale in England last year.

Gamblers made the American master 2-1, the shortest price ever offered before a British Open, even in the days of Walter Hagen, Bobby Jones and Ben Hogan.

Behind Palmer, the oddsmakers listed Jack Nicklaus, U.S. Open champ; Gary Player of South Africa; Peter Thomson and Kel Nagle of Australia; Gene Littler, the 1961 American Open king; and as an outsider, British Ryder Cup captain Dai Rees.

Palmer and Player were not as confident as their backers, nor was Nicklaus.

Dried out by drought and scorching wind, the Troon links baffled most of the stars in their tune-up rounds.

Sam Snead cracked around once in a 66, but conceded he'd never match that again. Just turned 50 last May, Snead's chances in this endurance contest were calculated at no better than 7-1 and that was largely sentimental support.

Troon was lengthened by 500 yards to 7,045, par 72, for this championship, but none of the power hitters was concerned over that. What bothered them all was the bone-dry terrain.

After 18 holes Wednesday and another round on Thursday the finalists are reduced to the low 50 for the 36-hole tour Friday. Prize money totals $23,800. First prize of $3,920 is scant by American standards, but the pros will tell you this is one they really want for the prestige alone.

Baseball Players Eye Shorter 1963 Season

WASHINGTON (AP)—The major leagues may cut down to a 153-game schedule in 1963 if the baseball players have their way.

Player representatives of the 20 major league clubs meet today to discuss methods of easing the schedule. Many favor cutting it from 162 to 153 games.

The players also will ask the owners to avoid scheduling night games on the last day of a series. This practice has resulted in many clubs travelling all night and arriving in the early morning hours with a game scheduled the same night.

After the players have drawn up their recommendations Judge Robert Cannon, their counsel, will pass them on to the owners. However, the owners do not hold their annual meeting until December, so no immediate decision is to be expected.

Fight Results

NEW YORK — Denny Moyer, 157½, Portland, Ore., outpointed Teddy Wright, 152, Detroit, 10.

TOKYO — Soloman Boysaw, 131½, Cleveland, outpointed Yukio Katsumata, 133, Japan, 10.

BRECIA, Italy—Sante Amonti, 189, Italy, outpointed Brian London, 205, Britain, 10.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — Chucho Hernandez, Mexico, drew with Carlos Rodrigues, Argentina, 10 (weights unavailable).

2 Win First Loop Games

With Morrison driving in the deciding run in the last of the seventh inning, Klondyke edged the Mets 22 by 2-1 in the Slow Pitch League Sunday at Thompson Park.

In a second game, when the pitchers were more liberal, Dresden A. C. won its first game over East End, 14-9.

Dick Potts pitched Klondyke to the narrow victory. Tice starred for Klondyke with two hits.

Russell was the winning pitcher in Dresden's win over East End. Fisher homered in going two-for-three and Russell had a triple for the winners.

For East End, John Douglas and Frank Lacey each went three-for-three.

League officials have asked all squads slated for second games in the evening to report to the field earlier than in the past. If the players of the second game are all present, the game may begin immediately upon conclusion of the first contest, the officials pointed out. Players are to report by 7 when slated for second games.

Dodgers And Yanks Regain League Leads In Hot Races

Koufax And Drysdale Give Only 3 Hits In Blanking Giants

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

With the National League lead at stake, the Los Angeles Dodgers cashed in with a pair of back-to-back aces—Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale.

The two pitching stars collaborated on a three-hit performance Sunday as the Dodgers climbed back to the top with a 2-0 triumph at San Francisco. Los Angeles edged a half game ahead of the Giants and gained an even split in the key four-game set.

It took some doing, however, despite the superb pitching. Koufax, the left-handed strikeout specialist with one no-hit victory this season, went five perfect innings and did not allow a hit until the seventh, when Jim Davenport and Orlando Cepeda singled.

The Dodgers finally cracked through southpaw Billy O'Dell for their two runs in the eighth, but Koufax failed to last. Drysdale, the 15-game winner who beat the Giants in the series opener Thursday, was called in to quell a ninth inning threat.

While the two pace-setters were staging their tense but sedate duel at Candlestick park, things were exploding elsewhere in the National League in some parting fireworks before the first All Star game break. Twenty-eight homers were hit, a one league high for an eight-game schedule, with 13 of them in Cincinnati, where the Reds swept the Houston Colts in the longest doubleheader in major league history. It took 8 hours and 7 minutes for Cincinnati to win 12-8 and 12-11 in 13 innings.

Stan Musial powered his way to a share of still another record, rapping three homers as St. Louis smothered the New York Mets 15-1. Third-place Pittsburgh shaded Philadelphia 6-5 after losing to the Phillies 8-4. And Milwaukee divided with Chicago, taking the second game 5-3 behind Warren Spahn after dropping the opener 7-5.

Cincinnati won the opener against Houston with a six-run fifth inning after trailing 8-3, then made three comebacks in the second game before winning it in the 13th on Marty Keough's homer and Leo Cardenas' bases loaded single. The Reds used nine pitchers in the overtime affair, which went 5 hours, 6 minutes, and the two clubs totaled 63 hits for the day.

Frank Robinson had six Cincinnati hits, including a grand slam and another homer, scored eight times and batted in six runs.

Musial's three homers, plus one his last time up Saturday, gave him four in consecutive at bats and tied a major league mark shared by 12 other players. Cardinal right-hander Bob Gibson held the Mets to three hits and banged out three himself, one a homer.

Bob Clemente batted across three runs in the Pirates' victory, with his homer in the eighth inning proving the clincher. The Phils took the opener on Jack Baldschun's tight six innings of relief pitching and Clay Dalrymple's key hitting. John Callison of the Phils had five hits for the day, including a pair of homers.

Spahn finally won on the road, for the first time in 10 decisions away from home this season, posting career victory No. 317 with his 11-hitter against the Cubs. The 41-year-old southpaw, now 8-10 for the year, also singled across two runs before Mack Jones clinched it with his fourth hit of the game —a homer in the eighth. George Altman and Andre Rodgers were the Cubs' big men in the first game, with five hits and five RBI between them.

Small Damage Listed In Koppers Plant Blast

MONACA — Comparatively little damage was caused in an explosion at 3 a. m. Sunday in the nearby strikebound Kobuta Plant of Koppers Co., Inc.

The blast occurred in a storage bin outside the dylite expandable polystyrene production facility. It damaged the bin and an adjacent building.

Don Stewart, plant manager, said it is believed the explosion was caused by volatile materials used in the manufacture of dylite, a foam plastic.

Only supervisory personnel were in the plant at the time, as the plant has been struck since May 1 by Local 8-74 Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers.

Davis Was Too Heavy

ELMIRA, N. Y. (AP) — Ernie Davis, Syracuse University's All-America halfback, made his football debut here in 1953 as a lineman because he was too heavy to carry the ball. He was 13 years old at the time.

The roles were reversed, but the results were the same: the Yankees won.

Singles-hitters Bobby Richardson and Tom Tresh—who have 15 home runs between them in their major league careers — turned slugger along with Hector Lopez while Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris—who have 670 career homers between them—punched singles Sunday in New York's 9-8 squeaker over Minnesota.

The Yankees' fourth straight triumph, along with Chicago's sweep of two with Cleveland, 6-3 and 8-4, boosted New York into the American League lead again, the 10th time this season they've been on top.

Los Angeles fell 2½ games behind when Boston administered a 5-4 defeat to the slipping Angels. Detroit swept two from Baltimore 5-1 and 3-2 and pulled to within five games of the top. Kansas City outlasted Washington 6-5 in 15 innings.

Lopez' homer in the ninth with Maris on base staked New York to a 9-5 lead. Whitey Ford, however, walked the first two men he faced in the last of the ninth, and Don Mincher clubbed a three-run homer off Luis Arroyo to make it close. Ford (7-4) got the victory.

Richardson and Tresh hit early inning homers with the bases empty, while singles by Maris and Mantle sparked a three-run New York seventh inning rally that broke a 4-4 tie. Harmon Killebrew and Zoilo Versalles hit homers for the Twins.

Charley Maxwell was the big gun in the White Sox' sweep over Cleveland with six hits, including a homer and triple. The double loss snapped Cleveland's six-game winning string. Juan Pizarro (7-7) struck out nine and limited the Indians to seven hits in the opener, which was decided on Luis Aparicio's two-run homer. Four unearned runs in the first inning of the nightcap made it easy for Ray Herbert (8-5).

Pete Runnels' eight-inning homer was the difference in Boston's conquest of Los Angeles—the Angels' third straight loss — and boosted the Red Sox first baseman into the league batting lead with a .340 average. The homer gave Boston a 5-2 lead, but Los Angeles rallied with two out in the ninth. Felix Torres and Tom Burgess singled and both scored on a double by pinch hitter Steve Bilko. Gene Conley relieved Bill Monbouquette (8-8) and retired the last man.

Jake Wood's hotly disputed triple, his fourth extra base hit of the day, in the ninth inning of the nightcap featured Detroit's double victory over Baltimore. Umpire Red Flaherty ruled Wood's long fly to right struck the screen while outfielder Russ Snyder was juggling it and Wood ended up with a triple. The Orioles argued for 10 minutes that it was caught cleanly. Moments later Bill Bruton singled Wood in with the winner.

Kansas City got its winning run in the 15th on an error. On an attempted squeeze play the batter missed the ball and catcher Ken Retzer trapped Jerry Lumpe, who had been on third, in a run-down. But Senator third baseman Ed Brinkman dropped Retzer's throw and Lumpe scooted home with the winner. Bud Zipfel put the Senators ahead with a solo homer in the 10th, but the A's matched it on a double by Norm Siebern and Jose Tartabull's single.

Admiral's Voyage Drops Another Close Decision

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Wirter

When the time comes for handing out the 1962 awards, the Thoroughbred Racing Associations could well consider the striking of two special ones for Admiral's Voyage.

One would be for the horse that travelled the most distance in the year and the other for the horse that lost the most close decisions in major races.

When Admiral's Voyage dropped a head decision to Ralph Lowe's lightly regarded Drill Site in the $113,900 Hollywood Derby at Hollywood Park last Saturday it marked the fourth $100,000 plus race in which he lost the verdict by the narrowest of margins.

The son of Crafty Admiral from Fred W. Hooper's stable started his 3-year-old campaign in California, where he lost the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby by three quarters of a length to Royal Attack.

He was flown to Gulfstream Park, where he finished third back of Ridan and Cicada, beaten six lengths, in the Florida Derby and then took off for New Orleans where he won the Louisiana Derby. A trip to New York followed.

After winding up ninth in the Kentucky Derby at Louisville, he returned east. In his first start at Garden State Park in New Jersey he took an allowance race as a warmup for the $100,000 Jersey Derby. He ran third in that big one but got second money when Crimson Satan was disqualified.

Then came his memorable duel with Jaipur in the Belmont Stakes. They battled head and head for the final sixteenth of a mile with Jaipur getting his nose in front in the final stride.

It appeared as if he had broken his jinx when he headed into the final quarter-mile of the Hollywood Derby with a 1½-length lead. But Drill Site, with Ralph Neves aboard, came roaring from behind for the decision in the fast time of 2 minutes flat for the 1¼ miles.

Upsets Keep 'Em Talking

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—It was a Wimbledon of upset results and long after Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman had been crowned women's champion on Saturday, the arguments went on around the All-England Tennis Club over the wholesale defeat of the mighty which staggered the 76th tournament.

Mrs. Susman of Chula Vista, Calif. was seeded eighth. Mrs. Vera Sukova of Czechoslovakia, whom she defeated in the final, was not seeded at all. In earlier rounds, the three top seeds—Margaret Smith of Australia, Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif. and Maria Bueno of Brazil—were all sensationally toppled.

Mrs. Susman, at 19 a shrewd and calculating judge of the game, summed it up like this before heading home for a week's rest Sunday:

"There are two kinds of pressure on tennis players. There is the pressure put on you by public adulation and press ballyhoo and there is the pressure that comes from within from nervous tension and worry.

"I think Margaret was a victim of the first kind and Darlene and Maria fell to the second kind."

Rod Laver of Australia swept to the men's title for the second straight year and proved himself without doubt the world's finest amateur player. Previously this year, he had won the Australian and French titles. Now he needs to win at Forest Hills to equal Don Budge's unique grand slam achieved in 1938.

Jim Bunning of the Detroit Tigers pitched three perfect innings in major league All-Star games in 1957 and 1961.

Ten different organizations are competing to represent one or more of seven recognized postal crafts.

Twin Bill Lost By Woodbine

Woodbine Laundry was the unfortunate team in Pony League action Sunday at Dopler Field, losing a doubleheader.

In a makeup game from Tuesday, Woodbine lost to George Bright's, 12-10, and then fell before Burbick's in a second game, 11-3.

Blythe and Clendenning of Bright's teamed up to defeat Woodbine in the first game, giving up 11 hits. Clendenning started and yielded seven runs over five innings, but still got the win with Blythe coming on in relief.

Tom Hansen, who gave up 11 hits, was the losing pitcher. Blythe collected three hits for Bright's, while Brewer had three for Woodbine.

In the second game, Mike Silliman scattered six hits to pitch Burbick's to the 11-3 victory. Gary Sanford started for Woodbine and got the loss.

Woodbine will oppose Litten's tonight.

All 94 On Plane Died, Official Report Says

BOMBAY, India (AP) — Airline officials said today there were no survivors among 94 persons aboard an Italian jetliner which crashed near Bombay Friday.

The report that all 85 passengers and 9 crew members had perished was issued by Alitalia in a report to the Rome headquarters of the airline.

The announcement came as search teams bogged down by mud suspended efforts to remove the rest of the bodies from a hillside east of Bombay where the four-jet DC8 went down in a heavy monsoon rain.

Alitalia gave no explanation for the crash.

Dodgers And Yanks Regain League Leads In Hot Races

Koufax And Drysdale Give Only 3 Hits In Blanking Giants

By JIM HACKLEMAN

Los Angeles fell 2½ games behind when Boston administered a 5-4 defeat to the slipping Angels. Detroit swept two from Baltimore 5-1 and 3-2 and pulled to within five games of the top. Kansas City outlasted Washington 6-5 in 15 innings.

Lopez' homer in the ninth with Maris on base staked New York to a 9-5 lead. Whitey Ford, however, walked the first two men he faced in the last of the ninth, and Don Mincher clubbed a three-run homer off Luis Arroyo to make it close. Ford (7-4) got the victory.

Richardson and Tresh hit early inning homers with the bases empty, while singles by Maris and Mantle sparked a three-run New York seventh inning rally that broke a 4-4 tie. Harmon Killebrew and Zoilo Versalles hit homers for the Twins.

Charley Maxwell was the big gun in the White Sox' sweep over Cleveland with six hits, including a homer and triple. The double loss snapped Cleveland's six-game winning string. Juan Pizarro (7-7) struck out nine and limited the Indians to seven hits in the opener, which was decided on Luis Aparicio's two-run homer. Four unearned runs in the first inning of the nightcap made it easy for Ray Herbert (8-5).

Pete Runnels' eight-inning homer was the difference in Boston's conquest of Los Angeles—the Angels' third straight loss — and boosted the Red Sox first baseman into the league batting lead with a .340 average. The homer gave Boston a 5-2 lead, but Los Angeles rallied with two out in the ninth. Felix Torres and Tom Burgess singled and both scored on a double by pinch hitter Steve Bilko. Gene Conley relieved Bill Monbouquette (8-8) and retired the last man.

Jake Wood's hotly disputed triple, his fourth extra base hit of the day, in the ninth inning of the nightcap featured Detroit's double victory over Baltimore. Umpire Red Flaherty ruled Wood's long fly to right struck the screen while outfielder Russ Snyder was juggling it and Wood ended up with a triple. The Orioles argued for 10 minutes that it was caught cleanly. Moments later Bill Bruton singled Wood in with the winner.

Kansas City got its winning run in the 15th on an error. On an attempted squeeze play the batter missed the ball and catcher Ken Retzer trapped Jerry Lumpe, who had been on third, in a run-down. But Senator third baseman Ed Brinkman dropped Retzer's throw and Lumpe scooted home with the winner. Bud Zipfel put the Senators ahead with a solo homer in the 10th, but the A's matched it on a double by Norm Siebern and Jose Tartabull's single.

Today In History

Today is Monday, July 9, the 190th day of 1962.

There are 175 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1780, the U.S. cruiser Proctor blew up the English privateer Admiral Duff. Only 55 Englishmen were saved.

On this date:

In 1386, the Swiss defeated the Austrians in the Battle of Sempach.

In 1816, Argentina proclaimed its independence from Spain.

In 1850, U.S. President Zachary Taylor died in office.

In 1945, British aristocrat John Amery was charged with committing treason against his own country.

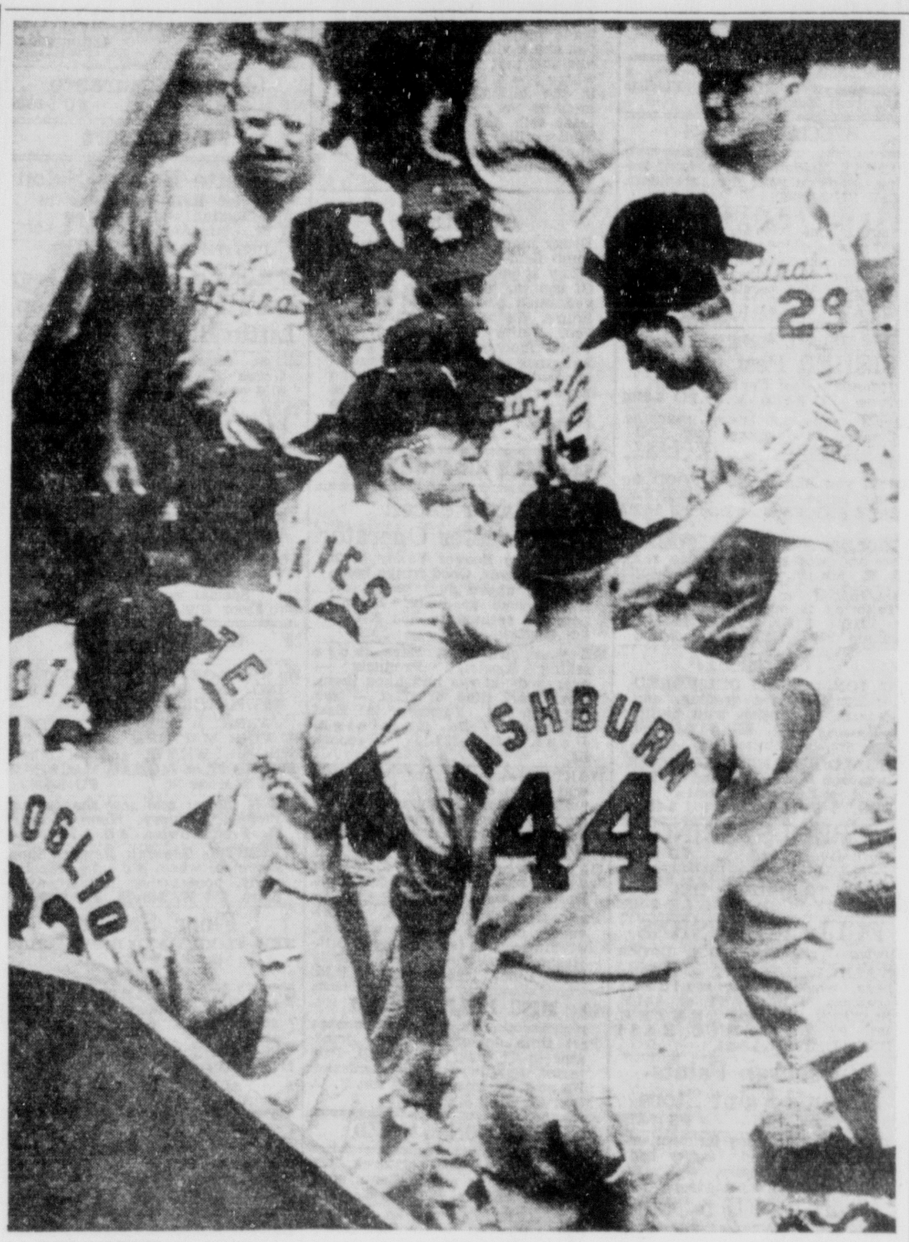

In 1960, Russia announced that a U.S. RB47 reconnaissance plane had been shot down.

Today's birthdays:

Movie director George Cukor is 63. News commentator H. V. Kaltenborn is 84.

Thought for today:

That man may last, but never lives, who much receives, but nothing gives; whom none can love, whom none can thank,—creation's blot, creation's blank —Thomas Gibbons.

STAN MUSIAL was welcomed by St. Louis teammates as he returned to the Cards' dugout at the Polo Grounds Sunday after slamming a home run. Musial hit four consecutive homers Saturday and Sunday against the New York Mets to tie a major league record. (UPI Telephoto)

Admiral's Voyage Drops Another Close Decision

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Wirter

When the time comes for handing out the 1962 awards, the Thoroughbred Racing Associations could well consider the striking of two special ones for Admiral's Voyage.

One would be for the horse that travelled the most distance in the year and the other for the horse that lost the most close decisions in major races.

When Admiral's Voyage dropped a head decision to Ralph Lowe's lightly regarded Drill Site in the $113,900 Hollywood Derby at Hollywood Park last Saturday it marked the fourth $100,000 plus race in which he lost the verdict by the narrowest of margins.

The son of Crafty Admiral from Fred W. Hooper's stable started his 3-year-old campaign in California, where he lost the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby by three quarters of a length to Royal Attack.

He was flown to Gulfstream Park, where he finished third back of Ridan and Cicada, beaten six lengths, in the Florida Derby and then took off for New Orleans where he won the Louisiana Derby. A trip to New York followed.

After winding up ninth in the Kentucky Derby at Louisville, he returned east. In his first start at Garden State Park in New Jersey he took an allowance race as a warmup for the $100,000 Jersey Derby. He ran third in that big one but got second money when Crimson Satan was disqualified.

Then came his memorable duel with Jaipur in the Belmont Stakes. They battled head and head for the final sixteenth of a mile with Jaipur getting his nose in front in the final stride.

It appeared as if he had broken his jinx when he headed into the final quarter-mile of the Hollywood Derby with a 1½-length lead. But Drill Site, with Ralph Neves aboard, came roaring from behind for the decision in the fast time of 2 minutes flat for the 1¼ miles.

Postal Count Begins

CINCINNATI (AP) — Officials at the Cincinnati post office today start counting 34,000 ballots cast by post office employes in the recent organizational election. A spokesman said the results of the voting in Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio post offices should be available by Sunday. Ten different organizations are competing to represent one or more of seven recognized postal crafts.

Upsets Keep 'Em Talking

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—It was a Wimbledon of upset results and long after Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman had been crowned women's champion on Saturday, the arguments went on around the All-England Tennis Club over the wholesale defeat of the mighty which staggered the 76th tournament.

Mrs. Susman of Chula Vista, Calif. was seeded eighth. Mrs. Vera Sukova of Czechoslovakia, whom she defeated in the final, was not seeded at all. In earlier rounds, the three top seeds—Margaret Smith of Australia, Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif. and Maria Bueno of Brazil—were all sensationally toppled.

Mrs. Susman, at 19 a shrewd and calculating judge of the game, summed it up like this before heading home for a week's rest Sunday:

"There are two kinds of pressure on tennis players. There is the pressure put on you by public adulation and press ballyhoo and there is the pressure that comes from within from nervous tension and worry.

"I think Margaret was a victim of the first kind and Darlene and Maria fell to the second kind."

Rod Laver of Australia swept to the men's title for the second straight year and proved himself without doubt the world's finest amateur player. Previously this year, he had won the Australian and French titles. Now he needs to win at Forest Hills to equal Don Budge's unique grand slam achieved in 1938.

Jim Bunning of the Detroit Tigers pitched three perfect innings in major league All-Star games in 1957 and 1961.

Twin Bill Lost By Woodbine

Woodbine Laundry was the unfortunate team in Pony League action Sunday at Dopler Field, losing a doubleheader.

In a makeup game from Tuesday, Woodbine lost to George Bright's, 12-10, and then fell before Burbick's in a second game, 11-3.

Blythe and Clendenning of Bright's teamed up to defeat Woodbine in the first game, giving up 11 hits. Clendenning started and yielded seven runs over five innings, but still got the win with Blythe coming on in relief.

Tom Hansen, who gave up 11 hits, was the losing pitcher. Blythe collected three hits for Bright's, while Brewer had three for Woodbine.

In the second game, Mike Silliman scattered six hits to pitch Burbick's to the 11-3 victory. Gary Sanford started for Woodbine and got the loss.

Woodbine will oppose Litten's tonight.

All 94 On Plane Died, Official Report Says

BOMBAY, India (AP) — Airline officials said today there were no survivors among 94 persons aboard an Italian jetliner which crashed near Bombay Friday.

The report that all 85 passengers and 9 crew members had perished was issued by Alitalia in a report to the Rome headquarters of the airline.

The announcement came as search teams bogged down by mud suspended efforts to remove the rest of the bodies from a hillside east of Bombay where the four-jet DC8 went down in a heavy monsoon rain.

Alitalia gave no explanation for the crash.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Premature Birth Slows Development

I once heard the late Professor R. S. Woodworth, a former teacher of mine, say, in referring to a daughter of his born prematurely, that on the average for each month premature, the child's development is about a year retarded. But he added: "There's hope for them to catch up by and by. They are different from the typically retarded child." From Colorado, a mother writes of her son, 10, who was born prematurely (at 6½ months), weighing three pounds: "He has a heart condition, a deformed rib structure, suffered from low resistance, respiratory infection, etc., till 4½ years old. These were brought under control but brain damage resulted.

Dr. Garry Meyers

"HE'S A BUNDLE of nerves, can't sit still for very long, is apt to chew the daylights out of a pencil, shirt cuff or paper handkerchief. He's about the size of a six-year-old and he resents this.

"His grades at school are none to good. He has a wonderful teacher, and when work is not done at school it's done at home.

"He excels in reading, is poor in arithmetic and average in spelling. He'd rather read and let all else go.

"He's a champion dawdler and has to be reminded over and over to get busy and leave things alone. Anything handy becomes a toy."

My reply in part:

No doubt your boy will catch up by and by. Do all you can to have him mingle normally with children of his age. Never refer to his size. When others do in your presence, divert their attention to other matters.

—:—

I HOPE YOU try to quiet him down and provide a serene, cheerful family for him. Most of all, try to speak in soft, quiet tones and try to be relaxed yourselves, you and Dad.

Don't let him roughhouse indoors. When he gets too noisy and excited, require him to sit half an hour.

Keep the radio and TV silent most of the time. Don't let him view TV much, and never violence on TV.

I hope Dad spends a lot of time with this boy and that you both help him to spend some time at fun with other children of his age.

It's wonderful that he excels in reading. Show great enthusiasm over his successes and find more books he will enjoy reading. Read also to him from harder materials.

When you help him at his lessons, strive to be calm and patient.

My bulletins, "Home Helps in Spelling, Arithmetic and Handwriting" and "The Nervous Child," may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Keep In Trim

Overweight Mother Shows Determination

"I don't want my little daughter to have a freak for a mother." This was the motivating sentence in a poignant letter from a young mother who is determined to reduce.

Ida Jean Kain

"I am writing to you with the hope that it might help me. Perhaps if I know that you are waiting for the reports I will stay with my diet.

"I am 35, weigh between 290 and 300 pounds. I am 5 feet 5 and measure: Bust 52; waist 43; abdomen 61; hips 62; thigh 36; calf 20; upper arm 18; wrist 7.

"I was a normal weight baby but started getting fat when I was 6 years old. At 14 I weighed over 200 pounds. My parents took me to doctors and they said I would probably outgrow it. They tried to keep me on a diet, but it was impossible.

—:—

"I WAS A pretty girl with lots of friends. But there were times when I was miserable and cried myself to sleep. The more miserable I was the more I ate!

"At 27 I married a wonderful man. When I became pregnant I was careful not to overeat and I lost 10 pounds. After the baby was born I was 40 pounds lighter.

"I felt better than I had for years. But the worries and anxieties of being a new mother made me overeat again. Now I am fatter than ever. It has helped me to write this down and I would like to report my progress," she concluded.

Your letter proves you believe it is possible to reduce. Good! You have the strongest motivating force in all the world—love. Your love for your little daughter will give you strength of will beyond anything you may have thought possible.

Analyzing the situation, from six you have used food to allay anxieties. You eat to satisfy a hunger that has nothing to do with a need for food. Turning to food for comfort is now a fixed habit pattern.

Most overweights can look back to when they were "a slip of a girl." You do not have a slim image of yourself. But you do have a powerful incentive to reduce, and the determination and inspiration to create a brand new image of yourself — vitally alive and healthy, normal weight.

Guard well your thoughts and your mental pictures. William James promised that human beings can alter their lives by changing the pattern of their thoughts. If all the thoughts you feed into your mind are in the direction of achieving ideal weight, one happy day you will be that vital attractive woman.

GRAB HOLD of the idea that making yourself over will be an exciting, challenging experience.

Tomorrow we'll let you in on nutrition rules for hunger control.

Send a stamped, self - addressed, long envelope for "Choose To Lose Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Premature Birth Slows Development

I once heard the late Professor R. S. Woodworth, a former teacher of mine, say, in referring to a daughter of his born prematurely, that on the average for each month premature, the child's development is about a year retarded. But he added: "There's hope for them to catch up by and by. They are different from the typically retarded child." From Colorado, a mother writes of her son, 10, who was born prematurely (at 6½ months), weighing three pounds: "He has a heart condition, a deformed rib structure, suffered from low resistance, respiratory infection, etc., till 4½ years old. These were brought under control but brain damage resulted.

"HE'S A BUNDLE of nerves, can't sit still for very long, is apt to chew the daylights out of a pencil, shirt cuff or paper handkerchief. He's about the size of a six-year-old and he resents this.

"His grades at school are none to good. He has a wonderful teacher, and when work is not done at school it's done at home.

"He excels in reading, is poor in arithmetic and average in spelling. He'd rather read and let all else go.

"He's a champion dawdler and has to be reminded over and over to get busy and leave things alone. Anything handy becomes a toy."

My reply in part:

No doubt your boy will catch up by and by. Do all you can to have him mingle normally with children of his age. Never refer to his size. When others do in your presence, divert their attention to other matters.

—:—

I HOPE YOU try to quiet him down and provide a serene, cheerful family for him. Most of all, try to speak in soft, quiet tones and try to be relaxed yourselves, you and Dad.

Don't let him roughhouse indoors. When he gets too noisy and excited, require him to sit half an hour.

Keep the radio and TV silent most of the time. Don't let him view TV much, and never violence on TV.

I hope Dad spends a lot of time with this boy and that you both help him to spend some time at fun with other children of his age.

It's wonderful that he excels in reading. Show great enthusiasm over his successes and find more books he will enjoy reading. Read also to him from harder materials.

When you help him at his lessons, strive to be calm and patient.

My bulletins, "Home Helps in Spelling, Arithmetic and Handwriting" and "The Nervous Child," may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Overweight Mother Shows Determination

"I don't want my little daughter to have a freak for a mother." This was the motivating sentence in a poignant letter from a young mother who is determined to reduce.

Ida Jean Kain

"I am writing to you with the hope that it might help me. Perhaps if I know that you are waiting for the reports I will stay with my diet.

"I am 35, weigh between 290 and 300 pounds. I am 5 feet 5 and measure: Bust 52; waist 43; abdomen 61; hips 62; thigh 36; calf 20; upper arm 18; wrist 7.

"I was a normal weight baby but started getting fat when I was 6 years old. At 14 I weighed over 200 pounds. My parents took me to doctors and they said I would probably outgrow it. They tried to keep me on a diet, but it was impossible.

—:—

"I WAS A pretty girl with lots of friends. But there were times when I was miserable and cried myself to sleep. The more miserable I was the more I ate!

"At 27 I married a wonderful man. When I became pregnant I was careful not to overeat and I lost 10 pounds. After the baby was born I was 40 pounds lighter.

"I felt better than I had for years. But the worries and anxieties of being a new mother made me overeat again. Now I am fatter than ever. It has helped me to write this down and I would like to report my progress," she concluded.

Your letter proves you believe it is possible to reduce. Good! You have the strongest motivating force in all the world—love. Your love for your little daughter will give you strength of will beyond anything you may have thought possible.

Analyzing the situation, from six you have used food to allay anxieties. You eat to satisfy a hunger that has nothing to do with a need for food. Turning to food for comfort is now a fixed habit pattern.

Most overweights can look back to when they were "a slip of a girl." You do not have a slim image of yourself. But you do have a powerful incentive to reduce, and the determination and inspiration to create a brand new image of yourself — vitally alive and healthy, normal weight.

Guard well your thoughts and your mental pictures. William James promised that human beings can alter their lives by changing the pattern of their thoughts. If all the thoughts you feed into your mind are in the direction of achieving ideal weight, one happy day you will be that vital attractive woman.

Lee, 53, has been a member of the exchange staff since 1946. He will be in charge of admissions matters, including the testing of registered representatives, and will handle a new program of membership services.

The exchange undertook a reorganization of administrative procedures after criticism by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Junior Editors Quiz on TEETH

QUESTION: Where did the "wisdom tooth" get its name?

ANSWER: These folks going up the hill in our picture are young people growing up; each one is a little older than the one behind. The little crawler at lower left gets his first baby teeth at 6 to 24 months and he yells when those teeth cut through his tender gums. After a few years, the roots of the baby teeth dissolve and the tiny teeth fall out. Then the permanent teeth appear. First to cut through are the first molars, at about 6 years. Then come incisors, cuspids, bi-cuspids and molars. We use the front group of teeth, the incisors, to bite wood into large pieces. Then we may pass it to the cuspid or canine teeth, to tear the piece up; then to the bicuspids and molars which really go to work grinding food so that we can swallow it. The first and second molars appear when children are quite young but the third molars take their time. These come through sometime between 14 and 20. When they reach this age period, young people are supposed to have packed away a lot of wisdom, and this is why teeth appearing at this age are called "wisdom teeth."

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Make a sandwich and check as you eat so that you will find what teeth are doing which particular job.

West Virginia Lists 6 Dead

By The Associated Press

Accidents killed six in West Virginia over the weekend. Four of the victims drowned, the other two died in traffic mishaps.

The highway victims were Local Mullins, 58, of Marmet, Kanawha County, and Muriel Jean Kelly, 13, of Dunlow, Wayne County. Their deaths raised the state's 1962 traffic fatality toll to 210.

Mullins was killed Sunday morning when his car overturned on a Charleston street. He was pinned beneath the wreckage. Miss Kelly was injured fatally Friday night when a truck driven by her father went out of control and crashed on U. S. 52 at Dunlow.

Two Kingwood boys drowned Saturday in the South Branch Potomac River near Petersburg. The victims were Virgil L. Pyles, 8, and David L. Rhoden, 14. A third boy, Rodney Pike, 15, was recovered from the water and revived by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation by two state troopers and two doctors.

Delbert J. Williams, 16, and Homer I. Spence, 19, both of Verdunville, Mingo County, drowned Saturday after going swimming in Laurel Creek Lake, a recreation area near Lenore not yet officially opened. Spence was home on leave from the Air Force.

Steller sea lions are superb swimmers and fishers. They dive as deep as 600 feet for food. Though a grown bull may weigh a ton and fearlessly charge a man it can be frightened off by the mere opening of an umbrella.

Steller sea lions are superb swimmers and fishers. They dive as deep as 600 feet for food. Though a grown bull may weigh a ton and fearlessly charge a man it can be frightened off by the mere opening of an umbrella.
